Proclamation by the Captain-General of Cuba—The Insurgent Cause Represented as Progressing Favorably.

HAVANA, Monday, March 22.

The man who was arrested on the wharf on Saturday, on a charge of theft, proves to have been a Cuban rebel. He was tried and sentenced to death by Court-Martial in the afternoon and shot at 6 o'clock the same evening.

Captain-General DULCE yesterday issued a proclamation, addressed to the citizens of Havana, in which he refers to the events of the day before. He says his promises of maintaining order and justice have been observed. The man who had just been executed was probably instigated by others to create a disturbance, and it was necessary to act in his case with exemplary severity. At this very moment the Government was leniently sending out of the country more astute but equally culpable men. The proclamation concludes with a flattering address to the citizen volunteers.

The Captain-General will hold a review of all the troops in and around Havana to-morrow.

In a skirmish near Trinidad, the insurgent General SCHMIDT was killed. Two more plantations in that jurisdiction have been destroyed by the insurgents.

A journal here reports that the towns of Mahuacaragua and Portrero Gallano were burned by order of CAVADA.

The Prensa reports that twenty-five insurgents, most of them of high rank in the rebel army, were captured and executed within five leagues of Trinidad, but adds that the situation in that quarter is more serious than it has hitherto appeared.

The Eco, (newspaper,) of Matanzas, professes to have received intelligence that FLORENCIO JIMINEZ, a rebel General, has presented himself to the Spanish authorities to receive pardon; that he says other leaders, members of the revolutionary Junta at Villa Clara, will follow his example provided their lives be spared, and they be guaranteed a safe conduct to some port from which they may sail from the island.

WASHINGTON, Monday, March 22.

The representative of the Cuban Provisional Government is expected to arrive in Washington to-morrow.

Private letters received in Washington represent the cause of the insurgents to be favorable, and consider it out of the power of the Spaniards to put down the insurrection. The insurgents maintain themselves in more than one-half of the island outside of the principal cities, and are increasing in number. The freedmen have their choice either to join the army or work on the plantations for the benefit of the revolutionists for wages, but generally prefer the latter.

Martial Law Declared in St. Domingo—Frequent Arrests and Executions.

HAVANA, Monday, March 22.

Advices from St. Domingo to the 10th inst. have been received. There was an appearance of comparative quietness in and around the capital; but arrests and executions continued to be of frequent occurrence. In the extreme eastern part of the country the insurgents were very troublesome, and the Government had found it necessary to declare martial law in the Province of Seibe.

Mr. FABEUS, Special Commissioner of the Dominican Government to Washington, carries with him instructions to rent the Bay of Samana to the United States. He is very reticent on the subject, and no other particulars as to the object of his mission can be obtained.

Additional Export Duties Imposed in Porto Rico.

HAVANA, Monday, March 22.

At Porto Rico, on the 12th, the sugar market was greatly excited. The Government has imposed additional export duties of $3 per hogshead on sugar; 65 cents per hogshead on molasses; 50 cents per quintal on coffee, and 20 cents per quintal on tobacco.

Marine Disasters at St. Thomas—Attempt to Banish an American Citizen.

HAVANA, Monday, March 22.

Dates from St. Thomas to the 16th are at hand. The schooner Susan, New-York for Cadiz, with petroleum, put in there leaking. British brig Sisters and British bark Rapid were wrecked and became a total loss. The former lost four of her crew, who were drowned.

At the request of the Captain-General of Porto Rico, the Danish authorities had banished from St. Thomas Dr. BETANCES, of Mayagues, who was suspected of being engaged in organizing an expedition against the Spanish colonies. Passports were sent to the doctor, but he refused to leave the island, assuming that the action of the authorities was illegal. He claimed his right to remain on the ground that he was a citizen of the United States, and in this he seems to have been supported by the American Consul, who had protested against the doctor's banishment. The affair caused much excitement, and a settlement was anxiously looked for.

Cuban and Haytian Refugees at Jamaica.

HAVANA, Monday, March 22.

The Haytian revolutionary steamer Mount Vernon was at Jamaica on the 12th inst., where she put in for supplies of coal and to receive her armament.

Refugees from Cuba and Hayti were flocking to Jamaica in large numbers.

Progress of Haytian Hostilities—A Treaty with France.

HAVANA, Monday, March 22.

The latest news from Port-au-Prince is dated the 11th of March.

President SALNAVE'S pickets were besieging Jacmel, while the insurgents had commenced the siege of Gonaives. The probabilities of success were in favor of the latter.

SALNAVE arrested some 200 merchants and others in Port-au-Prince, and sent them to Gonaives to reinforce the garrison.

A change had been made in the President's Ministry.

A convention has been concluded with France, by which the latter is to receive twelve per cent. of the revenues toward the payment of her claims; vessels are allowed to enter all the ports of Hayti, and discharge and load merchandise, provided those bound to ports in the hands of the rebels previously report at a loyal port for the inspection of their cargoes.

Peace and Tranquillity in Venezuela.

HAVANA, Monday, March 22.

An arrival from Carracas brings advices to the 10th inst. The Republic was tranquil. An unimportant rising occurred in Coro. It was soon quelled.

The yellow fever still prevailed in Carracas.

LONDON, Monday, March 22.

In the House of Commons, to-day, Mr. FORTESQUE, Chief Secretary for Ireland, said the Government did not intend to extend clemency to any other Fenians now in prison.

The debate on the Irish Church bill was resumed. Sir ROUNDELL PALMER made a speech favoring disestablishment, but opposing disendowment, and said he would propose and urge modifications of the bill in Committee.

Sir JOHN DUKE COLERIDGE, Solicitor-General, advocated the bill, approving it in all its points.

THE FIRE-BUG.

Continuation of the Examination in the Newburyport Arson Case—Choate to be Tried.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

NEWBURYPORT, Mass., Monday, March 22.

The examination of LEONARD CHOATE, the alleged fire-bug, was continued in the Police Court here to-day. Several more witnesses were examined, but no additional testimony of importance was obtained. The counsel for the prisoner endeavored to break down the evidence of the different witnesses and confound them, but he did not fully succeed, as the Court ordered that the prisoner be held for examination in the Superior Court May Term. CHOATE was then remanded to jail. Public opinion has again changed, and now it is generally believed that CHOATE is guilty.

The Sing Sing Revolt—Another Escape.

POUGHKEEPSIE, Monday, March 22.

Information received here states that a woman named MARY ANN TOLES escaped from the female prison at Sing Sing on Saturday night. She feigned sickness, and was allowed to remain in her cell all night. The assistant matron locked her cell door and reported all right. The next morning, at 8 o'clock, it was discovered that the bird had flown. She had been in the prison about two months, under a sentence of five years.

The funeral of Officer CRAFT, who was killed at the prison last Thursday, took place at Sing Sing, from the Baptist Church, yesterday morning. The prison officers and the entire Sing Sing Fire Department, of which he was a member, were in attendance.

The Case of Twitchell, the Philadelphia Murderer.

PHILADELPHIA, Monday, March 22.

In the Supreme Court this morning another application for a writ of error in the Twitchell case was presented by Mr. HUBBELL, who claimed that it was made on new assignments of error. Judge THOMPSON said the application was too late, but he would examine the papers, which consist of a pamphlet written by HUBBELL on the subject, and assignments of error, in which he contends that the judgment of the Court was not by due course of law.

WASHINGTON.

The Tenure-of-Office Act Difficulty—Caucus of Republican Senators—Brisk Personal Debate between Messrs. Morton and Conkling—The Whole Subject Referred to the Judiciary Committee.

Special Dispatches to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Monday, March 22.

The Republican Senators went into caucus this morning, at 10 o'clock, to discuss the Tenure-of-Office act, and, if possible, reconcile the conflicting views of Senators on that subject.

The suspension party were the movers in calling the meeting this morning, and their action in thus endeavoring by means of this party-whip to coerce those who differed from them, is severely animadverted on to-night.

There was a large attendance, however, and only three or four of those entitled to be present remained away. Senator POOL being among the absentees, Senator ANTHONY presided. Senator EDMUNDS offered the first proposition, which was a declaration that total repeal was not advisable. A long discussion followed, in which Messrs. SHERMAN, MORTON, CORBETT, BOREMAN, CAMERON and YATES spoke against the resolution, and Messrs. CONKLING and EDMUNDS in favor of it. Debate took a wide range, and several stormy passages occurred. The old speeches made by these gentlemen in debate on this subject were substantially redelivered with but little variation. Finally about 11:30 o'clock the question was asked whether the members should be bound by the action of the caucus. One or two Senators held the affirmative, but a regular storm of dissent and protest arose on all sides, and among those who were loudest and longest in the negative were Governor MORTON, Mr. YATES, Mr. SHERMAN, and Mr. THAYER. It was now nearly 12 o'clock, when the Senate was to be called to order, and it was agreed to meet again at 2 o'clock.

The Senate chamber and the lobbies were filled with a large number of people, principally office seekers and others interested in the fate of the measure, and as the Senators came into the hall on their way to their seats, they were beset by intimate friends and newspaper correspondents who were anxious to learn the result of the meeting. "We have come out to pray," said one. "It has been decided that the newspaper men shall get nothing," said another pleasantly. "We decided nothing except to meet again at 2 o'clock," said a third. The last piece of information was the most correct. The general rumor around the Capitol at this time was that the question then was whether the act should be suspended for four years or entirely repealed. But the former proposition was not introduced until the meeting of the caucus again at 2 o'clock, to hold which the Senate adjourned. It was brought forward by Senator WILLIAMS and was debated until 4:30, when it was decided to refer the whole question to the Judiciary Committee.

A large portion of the afternoon session was consumed by Senators MORTON and CONKLING, between whom a wrangle arose in reference to the question under debate. Senator MORTON in his remarks took the ground that the subject was not a proper one to bring before a caucus; that it had been debated for weeks in the Senate, and that at that stage of the proceedings, after members had put themselves on record in reference to it, the attempt to coerce them by party machinery was a palpable injustice. Mr. MORTON further referred to the former caucus, held on the 22d of February, and to the effort then made to bind them to a definite course. He charged that the caucus had been called by Senator CONKLING and one or two others, with the manifest object of carrying out their own particular ideas, viz., the prevention of the repeal of the act. Mr. CONKLING addressed the caucus very excitedly, denying the charge, but admitting that he had advised it. He made a severe attack on Governor MORTON, attributing to him interested motives in his advocacy of the repeal, and adding that he and his friends in the Senate were lecturing and dictating to the body. Mr. MORTON replied in indignant terms, characterizing Mr. CONKLING'S speech as scurrilous, coarse and vulgar, and worthy only of contempt. Mr. MORTON gave an account of the way in which the holding of the former caucus was engineered. Both gentlemen were extremely bitter in their personal allusions, which were finally cut short by the motion to recommit.

The final result of the caucus was to resolve that the subject should be recommitted to the Judiciary Committee.

The project for suspension either for six months or for four years, was effectually killed by the caucus deliberation. No positive instructions for the Committee were resolved upon, but the tenor of the debate plainly indicated the character of the report desired from the Committee. The bill will come back in a greatly modified form, shorn of all its objectionable features and possessing only the assertion of that power claimed to exist in the Constitution, of the right of the Senate to advise and consent to removals as well as appointments.

The Judiciary Committee had already decided upon such a modification when the project of suspension was proposed, which they accepted instead. The modifications to be expected, therefore, will be of the following character:

Cabinet officers will be entirely exempted from the provisions of the law.

The second section, relating to removals, will be so far modified as to provide that the President shall have power during the recess to make removals at his discretion, without giving reasons or preferring charges, and that he shall send the names of all persons so appointed and so removed to the Senate within thirty days after it assembles. If the Senate advise and consent to the removal, the appointment stands, but if the new appointee is rejected, the former incumbent resumes the office. This is the only practicable extent to which the law can be modified without repealing it entirely.

A very earnest effort is being made to-night to agree upon this modification as a compromise, and thus relieve the situation of the deadlock in regard to appointments which now exists.

Nothing positive has been developed regarding the President's views of any modification of the law, but he would doubtless prefer the modification above suggested to any suspension of the act.

From present indications, the matter is likely to stretch through another week, to the detriment of the public service and to the disgust of the country.

HOUSE PROCEEDINGS.

General PAINE, Chairman of the Elections Committee, pushed through a resolution this morning, which will not only materially lighten the enormous labors of the Committee, but will dispose of many of the contested election cases arising in the South, on a basis and in a manner which will have the result of lessening the temptation to contest cases. Heretofore the payment of contestants equally with the successful members has led to many contests that really had no substantial foundation. General PAINE'S resolution, which was passed, prohibits any payment to any contestant who is disqualified by the Fourteenth Constitutional Amendment, and also provides that when the Committee on Elections find that any member whose case is referred to them is disqualified by the same provision, they shall report the fact to the House, and the contest shall there end, so far as the Committee is concerned, unless the House otherwise order. General PAINE also introduced a bill, which went over for action till Wednesday, and which meets with the approval of a majority of the Committee, providing that in all elections for members of Congress all votes cast for any person disqualified under the Constitution shall be void, and the person receiving the next highest number, if qualified, shall be declared elected. The Democrats avowed a strong purpose to oppose the bill at the outset, hence its postponement.

Mr. LYNCH, of the Portland (Me.) district, who represents large shipbuilding and commercial interests, introduced a resolution today, which passed, authorizing the appointment of a Select Committee of nine to inquire into and report at the next session of Congress the cause of the great reduction of American tonnage, and the great depression of the navigation interests of the country, and to report what measures of legislation are necessary to better this condition of things. The Committee will give this subject a closer attention and a more thorough investigation than either the Committee of Ways and Means or the Committee on Commerce have yet been able to do. Commissioner WELLS' report will afford them an excellent basis to start upon.

The question of the adjournment of the present session of Congress came up in the House today incidentally, on a motion to rescind the resolution passed some days since to adjourn on the 30th inst. The motion was lost, but the sentiment developed in the discussion indicated very strongly that while the House was very anxious to adjourn as soon as possible, there was not much hope of getting away before the middle of next month. BUTLER spoke for a permanent session of Congress and warned members of the danger of going away and leaving the Senate in Executive Session to confirm Alaska purchases, &c., as they had done on previous occasions.

EXCITEMENT IN THE TREASURY DEPARTMENT.

The Johnson appointees in the Treasury Department are very much excited over the appointment of Mr. TULLOCK, late Secretary of the Congressional Republican Committee, to the position of Appointment Clerk of the Treasury. No removals have been made yet, but it is expected that a number will be dismissed at the end of the month. The office was besieged this morning by applicants for positions. They were of all ages, sex and colors.

VICE-PRESIDENT COLFAX.

Vice-President COLFAX leaves for Ohio and Indiana, accompanied by Mrs. COLFAX, to-morrow morning. He will be absent but a few days. Senator ANTHONY, President pro tem. of the Senate, will preside in his absence.

DEPUTATION OF QUAKERS.

A delegation of Quakers, from Philadelphia, consisting of Dr. C. EVANS, THOMAS WINSTON and JAMES SCATTERGOOD, arrived here to-day. They have not made the object of their visit known, but it is understood to be in relation to the part that those peculiar people may bear in the reorganization of the Indian service. It is believed by many here that the President will make his selection of Indian agents from among the Quakers.

PROBABLE APPOINTMENTS.

Although no appointments are being made where a removal without cause is involved, pending the result on the Tenure-of-Office act, yet conclusions are being arrived at in many cases, which will take the shape of positive action when the time for action arrives. Among other things determined upon are Hon. WILLIAM A. DARLING, for Collector of the Ninth District of New-York, and Hon. JOHN L. THOMAS, for Collector of the Port of Baltimore.

ART EXHIBITIONS.

Patrons of art, as well as native and foreign artists, will be glad to learn of the passage in the House to-day of a resolution reported by General SCHENCK, from the Committee of Ways and Means, providing for the importation for free exhibition of paintings and works of art on giving bonds for reëxportation after the period of one year, or the payment of duties if sold in this country.

PERSONAL.

Governor HAYS, of Ohio, and Ex-Attorney-General EVARTS, were among the distinguished gentlemen on the floor of the Senate to-day.

Postmaster-General CRESWELL, who has been absent from the city for the last few days, returns here to-morrow.

Dispatches to the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Monday, March 22.

THE ALASKA FUR TRADE.

A sharp contest is in progress in this city over the Senate bill to protect the fur seals of Alaska. General N. J. DANA, of San Francisco, representing the American Russian Commercial Company of that city, has printed and laid before the House Committee on Commerce a memorial criticising the bill as contrary, in some features, to Republican policy, and objectionable in not providing that the highest bidder shall be given the proposed lease, and suggesting its modification so as to provide

First—That the natives alone shall be allowed to kill the seal under proper regulations.

Second—That all American citizens shall be allowed to compete in some designated market-place, on one of the islands, for the purchase of the skins, and that sales shall be made at no other point.

Third—That an officer of the Treasury Department, and a small military force, be stationed so as to enforce the regulations, and secure a revenue of $1 or $1 25 upon every skin shipped. The military officer to be of such rank and discretion as to be able to render an efficient check upon the revenue officials, and like them to report to his superior the number of skins bought and shipped.

Under this plan the memorialists believe that the seals may be thoroughly protected, the islands may be made to yield an annual net revenue of $200,000, and at the same time the material prosperity of the Territory be generally so advanced as could not be the case were these interests placed for any consideration in the power of an overshadowing monopoly.

EMIGRATION IN VIRGINIA.

It appears from the Richmond Whig of to-day that several Austrians will arrive next week to settle a few miles below Richmond. A large influx of Englishmen will arrive at Norfolk in April, and arrangements have been made for an extensive importation of Germans. Letters received from the Netherlands, Russia and other European States show that there will soon be a large immigration to Virginia. Northern men are also prospecting for settlement.

THE VIRGINIA APPOINTMENTS.

All the clerical force at the Army Headquarters in Richmond was engaged on Saturday in preparing new appointments for the State, the time having arrived when, under the law, all persons who cannot take the test oath are to be removed from office. Among the appointments for the City of Richmond is Colonel EGBERT, Chief of Police. It is noted as a curious fact that throughout the length and breadth of Virginia, with a few exceptions, no marriage can be solemnized because of the removal of the clerks.

A COLORED POSTMASTER.

CHAS. M. WILDER, a colored man, has been recommended by the South Carolina Congressional Delegation, and indorsed by the Postmaster-General, as Postmaster at Columbia in that State. He was formerly Deputy United States Marshal, a member of the State Constitutional Convention, and is now a member of the South Carolina Legislature, and is said to be much respected by the members of all parties.

CUSTOM-HOUSES.

The Secretary of the Treasury, in a communication to the House, calls attention to the deficiency of the appropriation to complete the Custom-houses at Portland, Me., Ogdensburg, N. Y., and the United States Marine Hospital at Chicago.

A HEAVY CLAIM ALLOWED.

The United States Court of Claims to-day awarded to DAKIN, MOODY, GILBERT and SECOR $58,000, the claim growing out of the arrangement for a dry dock at San Francisco. The original amount of damages was $180,000.

GEN. HENNINGSEN.

The statement from Charleston that Gen. HENNINGSEN is in command of expeditionary forces in Cuba is incorrect, as that gentleman is now in Washington.

NAVAL MATTERS.

The following announcements have been made in the Navy Department:

Captain Egbert Thompson has been ordered to the naval station at Mound City, Ill.; Commander James T. Foster has been relieved from that station and placed on waiting orders; Chief Engineer Andrew Lawton has been ordered to the Philadelphia Navy-yard; Chief Engineer Elbridge Lawton to the Boston Navy-yard; Second Assistant Engineers O. W. Allison and George W. Hall have been ordered to the Kansas; Second Assistant Engineers E. Wells and A. J. Kenyon to the Quinnebaug; Second Assistants H. D. Pott and J. G. Brownham to the Unadilla, and R. T. Bennett to the Aroostook; First Assistant C. Andrade and Second, E. Cheney, to the Maumee.

A dispatch received to-day from Rear-Admiral Radford, dated Lisbon, Portugal, March 3, announces his arrival at that station on the Franklin, on the 28th ult., after a passage of seventeen days from New-York. The Franklin encountered a heavy southward gale, lasting from the 18th to the 22d ult.

The Ticonderoga, Commander Pennock, arrived at Lisbon a few hours before the Franklin.

The Ticonderoga and the Frolic will return to the United States, in obedience to an order from the Navy Department, as soon as the necessary repairs now going on are completed.

FORTY-FIRST CONGRESS.

FIRST SESSION.

SENATE......WASHINGTON, March 22.

Mr. FENTON presented a resolution of the New-York Chamber of Commerce in reference to secret sales of gold and Government bonds by the Treasury Department.

Mr. POMEROY reported from the Committee on Public Lands a bill granting the right of way to the Midland Pacific Railroad. Several amendments recommended by the Committee were agreed to, and the bill was passed.

Mr. WILLIAMS, from the Committee on Public Lands, reported favorably a bill amendatory of the act to aid in the construction of a railroad from the Central Pacific line in California to Portland, Oregon.

It allows any Company heretofore designated by the Legislature to file its assent to said act within one year.

Mr. COLE introduced a bill granting lands in aid of the Sacramento Emigration and Navigation Canal Company in California. Referred to the Committee on Public Lands.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The Senate then elected the following officers. Sergeant-at-Arms, JOHN R. FRENCH, of North Carolina; Executive Clerk, JOHN M. MORRIS, of South Carolina; Congressional Printer, ALMON M. CLAPP, of Buffalo.

Mr. ABBOTT introduced a joint resolution relative to taking the ninth census.

BILLS INTRODUCED.

Mr. COLE introduced a joint resolution directing the Secretary of the Treasury to audit and settle the accounts of WM. J. PATCH, late Collector of Internal Revenue of the First District of California. Referred to the Committee on Finance.

Mr. KELLOGG introduced a bill, which was referred to the Committee on the Pacific Railroad, to aid in the construction of the Pacific Central Grant Railroad, from some point on the Rio Grande to the Pacific coast.

Mr. SUMNER introduced a bill to amend the several acts of Congress relative to naturalization. Referred to the Committee on the Judiciary.

Mr. OSBORN introduced a bill to facilitate and provide for the more perfect preservation of records in the Courts of the United States. Referred to the Committee on the Judiciary.

INTERIOR DEPARTMENT BUILDINGS.

Mr. FESSENDEN, from the Committee on Appropriations, reported a joint resolution authorizing the Secretary of the Interior to rent a fireproof building for the use of the Department. Passed.

THE CIVIL APPROPRIATION BILL.

Mr. FESSENDEN reported a resolution to authorize the correction of an error in the enrolment of the Civil Appropriation bill, by the omission of the provision requiring proprietors of bonded warehouses to reimburse to the United States the salaries of storekeepers.

Mr. SHERMAN said that the provision having been adopted by both Houses, he supposed he ought to vote for its proper enrolment; but he felt bound to say it had been adopted without proper consideration; that in his judgment it was in direct conflict with the law of last year, and would work marked injury to the public service.

Mr. FESSENDDN defended the provision.

The resolution was agreed to.

THE TENURE-OF-OFFICE ACT.

The bill to repeal the Tenure-of-Office act came up at 1 o'clock as unfinished business, but on motion of Mr. PATTERSON it was postponed, and the bill to incorporate the National Junction Railway Company was taken up.

Several amendments were made and the bill was passed.

THE JUDICIARY SYSTEM.

Mr. TRUMBULL called up the bill to amend the Judicial system of the United States.

Mr. DRAKE offered an amendment striking all out after the first section, and substituting a bill of sixteen sections designed, he said, to devolve all the duties of the Circuit Courts now in existence upon the District Courts, and to reorganize the Circuit Courts with the District Courts in each Circuit. The amendment, he said, had been drawn up years ago by a United States Judge, after consultation with several other Judges, and he believed it to present a much better plan of reorganization than that reported by the Judiciary Committee.

Without action upon the bill, the Senate, at 2 o'clock P. M., adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Under the call of States, bills and joint resolutions were introduced and referred as follows:

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED.

CONTESTED ELECTION CASES.

Mr. PAINE moved to suspend the rules for the introduction and adoption of a resolution providing that in all contested election cases referred to the Committee on Elections, in which it shall be alleged by any party to the case or member of the House that either claimant is unable to take the test oath, it shall be the duty of the Committee to ascertain whether such disability exist, and if found to exist, the Committee shall so report to the House, and shall not further consider the claim of the person so disqualified without further order of the House, and no compensation shall be allowed to any claimant who shall have been ineligible to the office of Representative at the time of the election, and whose disability shall not have been removed by act of Congress.

Mr. WOOD inquired whether the design was, that in such case the contestant should have the seat.

Mr. PAINE said that this resolution would not have that effect, but that he should in due time introduce a bill to accomplish that purpose.

The rules were suspended, and the resolution was offered and adopted by a vote of 109 to 48—a strict party vote.

RETRENCHMENT COMMITTEE.

Mr. WELKER, from the Conference Committee on the concurrent resolution to create a Committee on Retrenchment, reported in favor of making the committee consist of four Senators and five Representatives. The report was agreed to.

After explanation by Mr. LOGAN, the bill was passed.

Mr. LOGAN, also from the same Committee, reported a joint resolution, providing that the vacancies existing in the Adjutant-General's Department at the time of the passage of the last Army Appropriation bill shall be exempted from the provisions of that act in relation to the grades of officers. After discussion between Messrs. LOGAN and GARFIELD, the resolution was passed.

AMERICAN COMMERCE.

Mr. LYNCH moved to suspend the rules for the offering and adoption of a resolution creating a select committee of nine to inquire into and report at the next session the causes of the great reduction of American tonnage engaged in the foreign carrying trade, and the great depression in the navigation interests of the country. Also, to report what measures are necessary to increase our ocean tonnage, revive our navigation interests and regain for our country the relative position which it once held among nations as a great maritime Power. The rules were suspended and the resolution was offered and adopted.

A motion to recall the concurrent resolution of adjournment was offered by Mr. LAWRENCE, and was discussed with considerable warmth by Messrs. LAWRENCE and BUTLER, of Massachusetts, in favor of, and by Messrs. DAWES and BROOKS against it. Finally, on motion of Mr. GARFIELD, the resolution was laid on the table by a vote of 4 to 1.

PROPOSED ADJOURNMENT OF CONGRESS.

Mr. LAWRENCE offered a resolution providing that the concurrent resolution by which the final adjournment of Congress was fixed for Friday next, and which is now pending before the Senate, be recalled for further consideration, and that a message be sent to the Senate requesting the return of the same. He proceeded to state that the bills now before the Reconstruction Committee are bills that ought to be acted on at the present session. The reconstruction of Mississippi, Texas and Virginia, and some legislation for Georgia, were undoubtedly necessary, and it would be impossible to perfect that legislation if Congress were to adjourn next Friday. There were other matters of importance before Congress which ought to be attended to within that time.

Mr. BUTLER, of Massachusetts, desired to give another reason why the resolution should be recalled. He said the Senate had adjourned today without taking any vote on the question of the Tenure-of-Office bill. The Senate might at any moment act upon the concurrent resolution for adjournment, and then this Congress would adjourn without any bail or main prize, or without anybody to hinder it, next Friday. Suppose the Senate did pass a resolution to suspend the Tenure-of-Office act, and then adjourn on Friday; before the House could consider it, the whole question would fall to the ground between the two Houses. Therefore he desired, for one, that the House should have control of the matter in its own hands. He agreed with the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. LAWRENCE) that there was necessary legislation to be acted upon which could not be perfected between this and Friday. The Indian Appropriation bill had not been considered by the Senate, and there was various business which required the attention of Congress.

Mr. DAWES, Chairman of the Committee on Appropriations, said: I hope this resolution will not prevail. It seems to me we are making arrangements in this way for a long session, which will run us into the hot months of the Summer. I do not suppose the Senate will agree to the resolution without an amendment postponing the day for final adjournment for a few days; but if we recall the concurrent resolution and enter upon general legislation, we will not only have to sit here for months, but, in my opinion, we will commence a career of legislation which will be fraught with anything but good. I think it were better for us that we had not met at all on the 4th of March; I think it were better for us that we had adjourned at the end of the first week of this session rather than adjourn next Friday; but I think it worse than all if we put off the day of final adjournment. There is nothing in the way of our adjournment next Friday, if we will address ourselves to such legislation as is absolutely necessary, and finish it off before next Friday. For my part, Mr. Speaker, I prefer that the concurrent resolution for adjournment shall remain with the Senate, rather than that we should recall it, and in that way invite ourselves to general legislation at this time.

Mr. BUTLER, of Massachusetts, said if he shared the opinion of his colleague that it would have been better had Congress not met at all on the 4th of March, he should also be of the opinion with him that it had better adjourn without doing anything. The one involved the other. Things had happened since which perhaps might have led him (BUTLER) to think it were better if Congress were not here at all; but he did not know that anything had happened which should lead his colleague to think so. Being here, however, he must insist that Congress remain in session. There were three States in an unreconstructed condition.

Mr. LAWRENCE—Four.

Mr. BUTLER—Four, and all of them States where a man's life is not safe; where the clergyman is shot down as he performs the marriage sacrament, and where men are taken out of jail and hanged and shot, and we are asked to go home now and leave the country in that condition without any laws to meet the case. We are paid by the year, and we are very anxious to get away. We are bound to stay here just as much as though we were not paid by the year.

Mr. DAWES inquired whether the offices in the unreconstructed States were not to be filled by the Commanding Generals, and whether it was not just as well to hold those States under military rule, as to bring them into representation in the manner and under the unfortunate circumstances that Georgia had been brought in. Had not his colleague learned that the mistake then was in making too much haste, and had his colleague felt that the country could not exist unless Congress continued in perpetual session.

Mr. BUTLER agreed with his colleague that in the matter of Georgia, Congress should have made haste slowly; but the difficulty was that Georgia was now in, and was no longer under military rule, except measurably. It was not the question of office, it was a question of life and death to the Republicans, to the Union man in the South. Who would not say that the adjournment of Congress now would be a desertion of them, and a turning of them over to their enemies? Besides, if Congress were to adjourn now, the Senate would remain in session as it did last Spring, and the effect then was that no sooner had the House turned its back than Alaska was thrust upon the country. He thought, therefore, that, under all the circumstances, it was the duty of the House to remain in session.

Mr. DAWES—And take care of the Senate?

Mr. BUTLER—Take care of everybody that the people's interest require to be taken care of. No man frightens me by saying "Take care of the Senate." I desire to keep within parliamentary language, and, therefore, I say we should take care of everybody that wants taking care of. [Laughter.] The power is put in our hands; we, the representatives of the people, are intrusted with it; we are paid for doing it, and we are false to our duty if we go away from here a day in advance of the time we should leave.

Mr. LAWRENCE—The objection made by the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. DAWES) is, that if this resolution be adopted, we will embark in general schemes of legislation. I undertake to say that it does not by any means follow that if the concurrent resolution for adjournment be reconsidered, we will necessarily embark in general schemes of legislation. It will be competent for the two Houses to determine how soon they will adjourn, and they will be as competent to determine it next week or the week after as they were competent to determine it last week. But I do not have that dread of general legislation that the gentleman (DAWES) seems to have. His whole argument, as well as that of the gentleman from New-York, (BROOKS,) assumes that Congress cannot be trusted in the exercise of discretion to legislate on such measures as may be brought before it. I think that the time is soon to be here, if it is not already here, when the public interests will demand that Congress shall remain in session most all the time. This is a vast and complicated Government, with vast interests, and corruption creeps into the Departments of the Government more readily when Congress is not in session than it does when Congress is in session. The presence of Congress is essential at all times as a guard on all the Departments of the Government.

Mr. LAWRENCE went on to say there was an Indian treaty before the Senate which would take out of the Treasury fifteen millions in one single year, as he learned from the New-York Herald of the 22d of February last. They were indebted to that paper, and to others, for giving to the country information in reference to these treaties which were made in secret, were negotiated in secret and were considered and ratified in secret.

The Speaker reminded Mr. LAWRENCE that his argument was not parliamentary or in order, as it involved a reflection on the Senate.

Mr. LAWRENCE said he presumed the Chair was right. He therefore left that part of the argument, and proceeded to show from the condition of affairs in the unreconstructed States, that Congress should remain in session. He thought the safe rule was to do the business which the interests of the country demanded to be done, and then adjourn. He moved the previous question on the adoption of the resolution.

Mr. GARFIELD desired him to withdraw it, but Mr. LAWRENCE declined to do so.

Mr. GARFIELD hoped the previous question would be voted down. The previous question was not seconded—vote 22 to 88—and then, on motion of Mr. GARFIELD, the resolution was laid on the table without a division, there being only fourteen members to demand the yeas and nays.

Mr. STOKES offered a resolution for the appointment of a clerk to the Census Committee. Referred to the Committee on Accounts.

Mr. JOHNSON moved to suspend the rules that he might offer a resolution declaring that in passing the resolution for the Fifteenth Amendment to the Constitution, the House never intended that Chinese or Mongolians should become voters. The rules were not suspended—yeas 42, nays 106—a strict party vote.

Mr. SCHENCK, from the Committee of Ways and Means, reported a joint resolution authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury to admit, free of duty, any picture, statue or work of fine art, from a foreign country for free exhibition in the United States, on satisfactory bond that the same shall be reëxported within a year, and on the further condition that its owner may within that time enter it for payment of duty, when the bond shall be canceled.

After discussion by Messrs. SCHENCK and VAN AUKEN in support of the joint resolution, and of Mr. WOOD against it, it was passed.

THE TREATY-MAKING POWER.

Mr. SCHENCK, also from the Committee on Ways and Means, reported the resolution adopted at the last session, in reference to reciprocity, declaring that while the House does not admit any right in the Executive or treaty-making power, to continue a treaty or convention with any foreign Government, by which import duties are mutually regulated, it is, however, of the opinion, and recommends to the President that negotiations with the Government of Great Britain shall be renewed and pressed if possible to a definite conclusion, regarding commercial intercourse, and securing to American citizens the rights claimed by them in the fisheries on the coast of the British Provinces in America, and for the navigation of the St. Lawrence River from its source to the sea. Adopted.

The House then at 4 o'clock adjourned.

The President on the Tenure-of-Office Act.

From the Boston Advertiser.

WASHINGTON, March 21, 1869.

President GRANT speaks freely enough about the Tenure-of-Office act to persons who ask his views. Some gentlemen who were with him three or four days ago, furnish the following which is believed to be a substantially correct report of the interview. He said: "I shall try to execute all the laws made by Congress, and I mean to be just as faithful in executing those I do not like as those I do like. I should like to have the Tenure-of-Office law repealed, for it stands in the way of several reforms we want to make, but if Congress does not repeal it I shall execute it the same as if I had signed it." One of the gentlemen asked him if the law was considered binding when the Senate was in session, to which the President is reported as answering: "Certainly; there is nothing in it which says it shall be in effect a part of the year and not in effect the other part. It does not say that office-holders may be removed at the pleasure of the Executive during the time Congress is in session, while a strong cause is required for their suspension during the time Congress is not in session. As a citizen the law is of no more consequence to me than to any other person, but as President it will prevent me from removing many persons I think ought to be removed." The President then mentioned by name the head of one of the bureaus in Washington, and continued: "I do not think he is a fit man for the place, and yet probably I could not make out a case against him. If I knew as much about his doings as he himself does I think I could, but as it is, if I should say to the Senate, 'I believe he ought to be removed,' he and his friends—and he has a good many—would begin directly to show why he ought not be removed, and I do not know but the Senate would decide in his favor. I haven't anything in the world against him personally, but I am strong in the conviction that I could put a good deal better man in his place, and if I'm to be held responsible for the conduct of that bureau I want a man there whom I know I can trust." There was some further talk about this particular bureau, and then one of the gentleman present remarked that he hoped a certain person at the head of a bureau in another department would be removed. The President smiled and said: "Well, now; only yesterday I had some gentlemen here who begged me to keep him in. I know him well, and never heard but that he was a good citizen; but I am convinced, and the head of that department is convinced, that the public interest would be benefited by putting a man there who is not mixed up with things of Mr. JOHNSON'S Administration. Some people say that he is honest, and some say he is not. I am inclined to think he is, but if I undertake to put him out and put somebody else in, he'll rally against me all kinds of opposition. He and his friends would work among the Senators, and might convince some of them that I'm a very bad man because I don't think he's a very good man for the place he's got." This remark caused some laughter, during which the gentlemen rose to leave, one of them asking, as he did so, if any nominations would be sent in that day. "Nothing of consequence," said the President; "I'm going to wait a few days and see what Congress does. If they repeal that law I'm ready to make a good many nominations. If they don't repeal it, we must go very carefully. I shall want to make some changes, but if I'm liable to be called in every case for charges and specifications and evidence, I shall have to look over the field thoroughly before I begin."

UNITED STATES COMMISSIONERS' OFFICE.

Before Commissioner Osborn.

THE ALLEGED BLACKMAILING CASE.

The United States vs. F. Z. Tucker.—In this case, the testimony for the Government having been closed, counsel for defence moved for a dismissal of the case on questions of law, but after hearing argument, the Commissioner decided to hear the whole evidence on both sides.

The first witness called was Supervisor Dutcher, who testified that the defendant was assigned to this distillery by him, and that the defendant had made reports to him at various times of what transpired at the distillery; that on the 11th of January he reported that money had been put in his pocket as he was washing himself in the office of the distillery, and showed to witness the money, which was $300, in large bills; that he requested the witness to take the money and keep it and return it when he should have left the distillery, and consulted with him as to how it should be returned, but that the witness refused to take it and Tucker kept it; that Tucker did not wish to stay longer at the distillery and requested to be relieved, but he requested him to stay till the first of the month. Mr. Dutcher further testified that on the 16th of January Tucker again reported to him that money had again been put in his pocket while he was in the warehouse putting on stamps, and that he supposed it was Ray who did it, as he was near him at the time. He showed the money again, which was two $100 bills. That on the 25th or 26th Tucker again reported to him that, as he was writing at his desk that morning, Ray came and put money on his desk, which he caught up and flung at Ray as he was going out of the door, and that Ray picked it up and put it in his pocket.

On cross-examination witness said that Tucker had several times in December, and also in January, before reporting these occurrences, reported that they were running off tubs at the distillery in less time than the law allowed, but that all these reports were made to him confidentially, Tucker requesting that they might be treated as such as long as he was at the distillery, as he was afraid of personal injury to himself, and that he requested to be relieved from duty at that place; that he was relieved on the 1st of February, and that he advised the defendant after that to go to some counsel, and have his statement drawn up, for the purpose of laying it before the District-Attorney.

Mr. Dutcher also testified that Tucker also stated to Deputy Commissioner Harland in his presence the facts which he had reported about the putting of the money in his pocket, but that was after he had left the distillery, and that he also reported them to General Hobart, a Special Inspector; but that he never made any formal report to him nor to the Collector, so far as he knew.

The next witness called was a son of the defendant, a lad of 13, who testified that he went with his father to the distillery on Saturdays in January, going to school on other days; that they arrived at the distillery in the morning together, and that Mr. Ray was not there when they got there either on the 16th or the 23d; that Mr. Ray staid there but a little while after he got there on the 16th, when he went away and did not return till after three o'clock; that while he was gone some gentlemen came to visit the still, and after going through it, went away, and Mr. Ray came a few minutes after, so few that he ran out to see if they were not still in sight, and that it was after three o'clock when they went away; that he and his father then went into the warehouse and were putting on the stamps when Ray came in, and sent him up to the office with a message to young Mr. Ray, which he carried, and returning met Mr. Ray coming from the warehouse, and that as they were going home his father told him that when Ray sent witness out of the warehouse he put money in his pocket; that on the 23d, when he and his father arrived Ray was not there, and his father left him in the office and went out, and while he was gone Ray came in, and that a few minutes after a boy came in with a note to Ray to tell him of the death of a man named Smith, who had been employed in the distillery, and that Ray sent word by the boy that he would come over as soon as he could; that the defendant came in before the boy went away, and they talked about the matter, and Mr. Ray then went away, and after he was gone Quinn, the coal dealer, came in; that after Ray was gone he and his father went up to the Central Park to skate, and did not get back to the distillery till about one o'clock; that Ray was not there and did not come till late in the afternoon, and that Ray did not see his father from the morning till he came back in the afternoon; that a few minutes after Ray came he left the office by the door into the still, and that witness and his father then left for home; that Ray came out after them and called to his father to come back, but his father would not, and kept on down the street, and that he asked his father what Ray wanted, and he said Ray wanted to put money in his pocket again.

The examination of this witness was not concluded when the case was adjourned till to-day at 1 P. M.

The United States vs. David Lichtenheim and Sigismund Funk, charged with conspiring to defraud the Government by evasion of the segar tax. The Commissioner postponed his decision to to-day, not having made up his mind completely how much weight to allow to testimony from men who are, according to their own statement, co-conspirators.

The United States vs. Jacob Frend.—The decision of this case, which is similar to the one above, was postponed to Thursday the 25th inst.

SUPREME COURT—SPECIAL TERM AT CHAMBERS—MARCH 22.

Before Judge Barnard.

THE UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD—FURTHER INTERESTING PROCEEDINGS—COUNTER-AFFIDAVITS.

James Fisk, Jr., vs. the Union Pacific Railroad, the Credit Mobilier of America, Thomas C. Durant, et al.—The argument of the motions in this case was continued to-day. Affidavits on behalf of the Union Pacific Railroad Company, and confirmatory of the testimony of Vice-President Durant, were read. These affidavits were made by Mr. John J. Cisco, Sidney Dillon, and Charles A. Lambard, and are in substance as follows:

John J. Cisco swears that from the organization of the Union Pacific Railroad Company he has been and now is a director and the treasurer thereof; that he has read a copy of the affidavit of Thomas C. Durant, which was read before the Court on the 20th inst., and that said affidavit is true to the best of deponent's belief and knowledge. This affidavit bears date March 22, 1869.

Sidney Dillon deposed that he is a director of the Union Pacific Railroad Company; that he is now the President of the Credit Mobilier of America, which is a corporation organized under the laws of the State of Pennsylvania, and that the general office of the said Credit Mobilier of America is now, and has been since the organization of said company, in the City of Philadelphia; that since the month of December last past the said Credit Mobilier of America has had no office or branch office at No. 20 Nassau-street, in the City of New-York, nor has it done any business at that place since that time; and deponent further says that there are none of the books, papers, property, assets or effects of the said Credit Mobilier of America at No. 20 Nassau-street in the City of New-York, nor has there been any of the same for several weeks last past within the knowledge of this deponent. Deponent further says that he has heard read the affidavit of A. H. Whitmore made March 16, 1869, in this action, and that the same is in each paragraph and statement therein absolutely false and untrue, and without the shadow of foundation in point of fact, saving only as to the following point, viz.: It is true that some of the directors and nearly all of the stockholders of the Union Pacific Railroad Company are stockholders of the Credit Mobilier of America. Deponent further says that he has read the copy affidavit of James Fisk, Jr., sworn in this action March 16, 1869, and the affidavit of Thomas C. Durant, sworn herein on the 20th day of March, 1869, and knows the contents of the same and the papers to which they allude and refer; that the affidavit of said Thos. C. Durant is in all respects true within the knowledge of this deponent, with the exception of that deponent was not present at the time the United States Commissioner examined that portion of the road known as the Z, and has no personal knowledge of the statements relating thereto, but that in that respect he verily believes the said affidavit of the said Thomas C. Durant to be true; and this deponent was not present at the organization of the annual meeting of the stockholders of said Railroad Company on the 10th day of March, 1869, or when any votes were cast, and has no personal knowledge of the number of votes given on said occasion, but speaks of the same only upon information and belief. Subscribed and sworn to March 22, 1869.

Charles A. Lambard swore that he is a Director of the Union Pacific Railroad Company, and has been since the organization of the Company; that he is also a stockholder of the Credit Mobilier of America, but has never been a Director of the latter Company; that he has read the copy affidavit of A. H. Whitmore and of James Fisk, Jr., sworn respectively March 16, 1869, in this action, and the affidavit of Thomas C. Durant, also sworn in this action on the 20th of March, 1869, and knows the contents of each and every of them; that the said affidavit of Thomas C. Durant is true within the knowledge of this deponent, except as to the examination by the Commissioners of that part of the railroad of the Company known as the "Z," and that as to that part of said Thomas C. Durant's affidavit he verily believes it to be true. Subscribed and sworn to March 22, 1869.

After the reading of these affidavits, Vice-President Durant was put upon the stand by Mr. Field, and examined at length. He first corrected the statement as to the number of teams employed in the construction of the road. The correct number was 8,000, and not 500 or 800; he had not seen the contract for construction which was made with Jas. W. Davis since; Davis lives at Omaha; witness had tried to see the books which would tell him the amount of his dividends, but the Sheriff had the key of the vault and he could not; the Union Pacific Road had never paid a dividend.

Q.—Why not, if so much money has been made on the contracts?

The question was objected to on the ground that this was a question of intention.

Judge BARNARD said the scope of the inquiry was whether money properly belonging to dividends had not been turned over to the Credit Mobilier for distribution among its stockholders? Objection overruled.

A.—Because the road was not completed; no profits had been made on it; the Credit Mobilier made some profits; the Oakes Ames contract was made in October, 1867; witness did not execute it, but probably the President, Oliver Ames, did; work was commenced under that contract immediately after the passage of the resolution; the contract was to be held for the benefit of all the stockholders; witness supposed it was made for all who assented to the contract; all the stockholders who had paid up on their stock had received their allotments except Brigham Young, who did not complain; the assent of the stockholders was obtained as soon as they could be seen; the allotment was made in 1867; he did not know that the whole amount of stock had been issued; he thought that $24,000,000 had been subscribed; the total amount of capital stock authorized by law is $100,000,000.

Q.—When was the last installment paid on the stock? A.—I can't say exactly, but I think it was within the last year; this installment was for $2,500,000; at the time Mr. Fisk subscribed he tendered fifty-five per cent. of his subscription; the fifty-five per cent. was all which the directors had up to that time required; all the subscribers had not paid the fifty-five per cent. at that time; some few of them were in default; I owned a majority of the stock of the first subscription; after my first subscription I subscribed for another million and paid down twenty-five per cent. thereon; the contractors are not only to build the road but to equip it; the contractors are paid a sum in gross each month, commencing at $42,000 per mile and running up to $96,000.

Q.—On those portions of the road where you pay the contractors $42,000 per mile, do you receive the Government subsidy of $16,000 per mile?

The witness here went into a lengthy explanation which was not well understood.

Mr. Field continued his examination. Now, Mr. Durant, as to Whitmore's affidavit, you say it is false. How many locomotives have been disabled? A.—Nineteen is the largest number which has been in the shop at any one time; some of them were there for very trifling damages.

Q.—How many locomotives have been built? A.—I think we have had 160 locomotives built.

By the Court—Where are the cars made? A.—In Detroit, Cleveland and Chicago, and we turn out about four cars a day at Omaha.

By Mr. Field—Have you made any contracts for coal? A.—Yes, Sir; I have made some contracts.

Q.—Can you tell how long a supply of coal you have on hand? A.—Enough for a year.

Q.—Have you contracted for enough to last for fifteen years? A.—No, Sir; we have contracted with quite a number of different coal companies; we are to pay from $4 to $9 per ton.

Mr. Field—You have sworn that every part of Mr. Whitmore's affidavit is false. Now I wish you to state whether there are any members of Congress interested in these contracts? A.—Yes; Oakes Ames is; I can't say that any others are.

Mr. Field—Now, Mr. Durant, we will come to the books which show what property the Company has in this State. Will you please present the books?

Mr. Tracy objected. The Court said that the witness being Vice-President of the Company, he was supposed to know what property the Company had in the State.

Witness said he did not believe the Company had a dollar in this State, except some collaterals pledged for loans, one from a City bank and another loan from Mr. Cisco; there is some property in the Company's safe of which your receiver has the key.

Mr. Field here asked the Court that the witness be compelled to produce certain books.

Mr. McFarlane, in behalf of the Company, objected, on the ground that there is no warrant in law or power in the Court to compel it.

Mr. Field cited authorities to show that the Court can compel a witness to produce the books of a corporation, and among others the decisions of Judges Mullin and Sutherland were alluded to.

Mr. Tracy replied at some length, contending that in a proceeding of this nature against a corporation, there is no power to compel the witness to produce the books.

Judge Barnard said that in the Erie litigation he had occasion to examine this question thoroughly as to the power of the Court. That case was similar in all respects to this so far as he, the Judge, could see. In that case General Diven, and afterward Mr. Edward Schell, were ordered by the Court to produce certain books of the Company, and the person in whose custody the books were was held to be in contempt for not having produced them. In this instance he must hold that Mr. Durant produce the books.

Mr. Field—Now, Mr. Durant, will you please present the books, or give an order and we will send a messenger for them?

Mr. Tracy—Well, I shall advise Mr. Durant that he cannot produce them, and that he ought not.

Mr. Field—Then, your Honor, the better way will be to commit Mr. Durant to jail.

Mr. Tracy—Then, if to test the question some one must be locked up, either I or Mr. Durant will go to jail.

Mr. Barlow said that they had not made out a case to warrant the proceedings contemplated. Besides, the books are not under the control of Mr. Durant. There is a combination lock to the safe, and it would take the Court a week to get into the safe. The key he said, is in the possession of one person, and the combination with another.

Judge BARNARD—It would take me a year to get into the safe. I will give Mr. Durant until 1 P. M. to produce the books. A recess was accordingly taken until that time.

At 1 P. M. the Court convened, and Mr. Barlow read an affidavit to the effect that Mr. Durant had made application at the Company's office, in Nassau-street, for the books. He found the safe locked, the key of it in charge of a Deputy Sheriff, and the combination was in the possession of Assistant Auditor Benjamin Ham, who was absent in New-Jersey. No one could unlock the safe unless he was possessed of this combination.

Mr. Field then put Vice-President Durant upon the stand, and cross-questioned him, without eliciting anything new. He then asked witness how soon Mr. Ham could be got here; witness did not know; he did not know where he lived.

Mr. Field then addressed the Court, and characterized in strong language such conduct on the part of the Company's agents as trifling with the tribunals of justice. The books would never be obtained until doomsday unless the Court would make and then enforce its own orders.

Mr. McFarlane said such language was an insult to the Court, and amounted to a charge of perjury as to Mr. Durant the witness.

The Court thought sufficient had been testified to to warrant the conclusion that the books could not be produced to-day, and hence the case would be postponed to such time as would be most convenient to counsel. After consultation the further hearing was set down for Tuesday, the 23d, at 2 P. M.

For plaintiff, Messrs. D. D. & D. Field; for the Union Pacific Railroad Company, Messrs. Clark Bell, S. L. M. Barlow and McFarlane, Charles Tracy and Ex-Judge Allen.

SUPREME COURT—CIRCUIT—PART III.—MARCH 22.

Before Judge Cardozo.

No causes were called in this Court to-day, owing to the death of the son of Judge Sutherland. In ordering an adjournment out of respect to the memory of the deceased, Judge CARDOZO made the following remarks:

"To-morrow the remains of Mr. John McClellan Sutherland, the son of our associate Judge of this Court, will be consigned to the tomb. He was a visitor at my house, intimately known to me, and deservedly held by me in high regard. He was possessed of characteristics extremely amiable, wholly free from the follies which usually attend early manhood, and fondly and proudly regarded by his distinguished father as the solace of his declining years. All that I can do to denote my respect for the bereaved Judge and my sympathy in the sad affliction which has desolated his peculiarly gentle and affectionate heart, is to order that the Court stand adjourned while the funeral rites are being celebrated, and that suitable cause of the interruption of its business be entered on the minutes."

SUPERIOR COURT—TRIAL TERM—PART I.

Before Chief Justice Barbour and a Jury.

ACTION AGAINST THE SHERIFF.

E. Darwin Lampson vs. James O'Brien, Sheriff, &c.—This was an action brought to recover $535 as the value of a horse, harness and truck seized by defendant under an execution against the firm of James Chapman & Co. The property was given by William H. Lampson, the partner of Chapman, to Chester O'Neill, in payment of a debt due the firm, and by him resold to the plaintiff in this action. It was claimed by the defendant that the transfer was made only with a view to cover up the property and protect it against bona fide creditors of the firm of Chapman & Co. The jury found a verdict for defendant.

Henry Brewster for plaintiff; A. J. Vanderpoel for defendant.

SUPERIOR COURT—TRIAL TERM—PART II.

Before Judge Fithian and a Jury.

THE MUSEUM FIRE.

Barnum & Van Amburg Museum and Menagerie Company vs. The Commonwealth Fire Insurance Company.—This is an action by the plaintiffs against defendant to recover the sum of $2,500 on a policy of insurance on the Museum building in Broadway, between Prince and Houston streets, which was destroyed by fire a year ago. The case was opened by E. Randolph Robinson, by whom it was stated that when the association was formed by uniting Mr. Barnum's Museum and Van Amburg's Menagerie, the Museum property was valued at $120,000, and the Menagerie property at $180,000, making in all the estimated value of the Company's property $300,000. During the two years the Company was in operation preceding the fire, the profits amounted to $180,000, all of which was expended in repairs, alterations and improvements in the building and the stock it contained, making the claimed value at the time of the fire $480,000. The property was insured in fifty insurance companies for the gross sum of $140,000, or $340,000 less than the estimated value, and $150,000 less than the estimated loss. Some of the companies have accepted the estimate of the plaintiff, and paid the amount of their policies, but about thirty of them have refused on the alleged ground of a fraudulent overestimate of the property destroyed.

Among the articles understood to be claimed by defendants as overestimated are, a case of owls, stuffed, valued at $250; one automaton writer, $2,000; a mammoth ox, stuffed, $500; Artemus Ward, (his picture,) $250; a case of miscellaneous curiosities, $2,000; a performing monkey, $250; two royal Bengal tigers, $6,000; white mice and tank, $45; nine ring-tail monkeys, $135, and one porcupine, $100. The cause was adjourned over until to-morrow, when the testimony on behalf of plaintiffs will begin.

E. Randolph Robinson and H. A. Cram for plaintiffs; John Fowler, Jr., for defendant; and Mr. Miller and J. C. Dimick representing other companies.

MONDAY, March 22—P. M.

The sales of gold to-day were at 131@⅛@¼ ₱ cent., as against 131 ₱ cent. at the close of business on Saturday. The buyers who had balances to carry over made better terms than on Saturday, say 4 to 6 ₱ cent. Interest per annum, in place of 6@8 ₱ cent. There was not a very large business done to-day. The Foreign Exchanges continued to rule at cheap rates. A better tone was reported in the forenoon, but on later inquiry we found the extent of the demand still greatly behind the amount and variety of Bills offered. On London the 60-day rate closed 108⅜@108⅝; Short Sight, 108⅞@108¾; Cable transfers, 108¾@109 ₱ cent. The Money Market to the Brokers was easier than on the closing days of last week, and we heard of no higher rate than 7 ₱ cent. Currency Interest. The appearance of the Market at the close of business was in favor of a very steady movement through the present week. The "locking up" process, discussed on Saturday, was not referred to on the Street to-day.

On the Stock Exchange the Public Funds were dull through the forenoon, and a fraction lower on the May and November 5-20s of 1862-65, actively dealt in in Europe. This is owing, undoubtedly, to the difficulty of placing Exchange at creditable rates for the drawers. The supply of Bills is so much ahead of the ordinary trade demand, that to force sales upon the Banking Houses who have the ability to buy at cheap rates, is to subject the sellers to larger concessions than, for their own standing as Bankers or Brokers, they are willing to consent to. The consequence is that orders for and adventures in United States 5-20s for transmission to Europe are held in abeyance for a few days, while there is nothing discouraging in the Cable quotations from the other side. The market for the Funds left off steady at 113⅝@¾ for the 1867s, and 118⅝@118½ for the 1862s.

The State Bonds were generally dull to-day. The Miscellaneous Shares were lower by 1@1½ ₱ cent. on Pacific Mail, and steady on the Mariposa Stocks. The Railway speculation turned upon New-York Central, but without a general break-down on the list, consequent upon the raid upon this particular Stock. The sales of Central were at 155½@155@154@153¾@154½@155¾@156 ₱ cent. There was much excitement in the dealings, and the decline of 4@5 ₱ cent. from last week created a disposition to sell Hudson River and the Western Roads at some concession in prices, and this in turn was met with a free demand and a large resulting business. The movement in New-York Central, as indicated in our weekly review this morning, is altogether exceptional, and supposed to be in part of Albany origin, with a certain coöperation in Wall-street, on the calculation that the "stand and deliver" tactics of the Albany lobby may force Mr. VANDERBILT to "come down," which calculation, it may be, will, in the end, prove a capital mistake.

After the late Boards broke up the following quotations were made as compared with the last prices of Saturday. Gold steady at 131. The Public Funds a shade firmer. The Railways looking better:

"Special No. 63," to which you refer, related only to the repacking and reinspecting of smoking, fine-cut, chewing tobacco and snuff, prior to Feb. 15, 1869, and did not in any way relieve those articles from liability to stamp after that day.

Very respectfully, THOMAS HARLAND,

NEWS OF THE DAY.

EUROPE.

PHOTIADIS BEY has proceeded to Athens as Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary from Turkey.

In the British House of Commons yesterday, Mr. FORTESCUE, Chief Secretary for Ireland, announced that the Government did not intend to extend clemency to any other Fenian prisoners. The debate on the Irish Church bill had been resumed. Sir ROUNDELL PALMER favored disestablishment, but opposed disendowment. Solicitor-General COLERIDGE advocated the bill in all its points.

A popular free-trade demonstration had been made in Barcelona, Spain.

The majority of the elections for the Hungarian Parliament have so far resulted in the success of the Deak Party.

WEST INDIES.

Captain-General DULCE issued a proclamation on Sunday to the people of Havana, in which he alludes to the events of the previous day, and insists that his promises to maintain order are redeemed. The Government had already sent away those who were endeavoring to disturb the country. He concludes with a flattering address to the volunteers. Private letters received at Washington represent the insurgent cause as probably successful in the end.

A review of all the Spanish troops at Havana will take place to-day. In a skirmish near Trinidad, the insurgent General SCHMIDT was killed. Two more plantations had been destroyed by the insurgents in that jurisdiction. A report prevailed yesterday in Havana that the towns of Manuacaragua and Portrero-Gallano had been destroyed by order of CAVADA. Seventy-five insurgent prisoners had been executed near Trinidad, and the situation there was represented as serious.

There was an appearance of tranquillity in St. Domingo, but arrests and executions continue to be of frequent occurrence. In the eastern part of the country the insurgents were so troublesome that martial law had been declared in the Province of Seibe. The special Commissioner of the Dominician Government, now en route for Washington, has instructions to rent the Bay of Samana to the United States.

Dates from St. Thomas are to the 16th inst. The schooner Susan, of New-York, for Cadiz, had put in there leaking. The British brig Sisters and bark Rapid had been totally wrecked. The former had four of her crew drowned. At the request of the Captain-General of Porto Rico the Danish authorities had banished Dr. BETANCES, of Mayaguez, on suspicion of having assisted in organizing an expedition against the Spanish colonies. The doctor had refused to go on the gronnd of being an American citizen, and the affair caused considerable excitement.

Hayti advices are to the 11th. President SALNAVE's pickets were besieging Jacmel, and the insurgents had commenced the seige of Gonaives with prospects of good success. SALNAVE had arrested 200 merchants and others, and drafted them into the Gonaives garrison. A change had occurred in the Ministry. A treaty had been concluded with France by which the latter was to receive 12 per cent. of the revenues to pay off her claims. Vessels are allowed to enter all the ports and discharge and load merchandise under certain conditions.

CONGRESS.

In the Senate yesterday Mr. FENTON presented a resolution of the New-York Chamber of Commerce in reference to secret sales of gold and bonds by the Government. The Committee on Public Lands reported a bill granting right of way to the Midland Pacific Railroad, when the same was passed with amendments made by the Committee. The Senate then elected JOHN R. FRENCH, of North Carolina, JOHN M. MORRIS, of South Carolina, Executive Clerks, and ALMAR M. CLAPP, of Buffalo, Congressional Printer. Several bills of minor interest were introduced and appropriately referred. A bill was passed authorizing the Secretary of the Interior to erect a fireproof building for the use of the Department. Some debate ensued on the Civil Appropriation bill, in relation to the omission of the provision requiring bonded warehouse proprietors to reimburse the United States the salaries of storekeepers. The resolution was at length agreed to. The bill for the repeal of the Tenure-of-Office act came up as unfinished business and was at once postponed on resolution. The bill to amend the judicial system of the United States was called up but no action was taken as the Senate adjourned at 2 o'clock.

In the House, over one hundred bills were introduced, the most important being to provide against undue expansions and contractions of the currency and a gradual resumption of specie payments; to provide for a uniform system of naturalization; to repeal the act in reference to the certification of checks by National Banks and to alter computation of foreign money for Government purposes; to remove obstructions from the East River, New-York Harbor; to divide the State of Texas; to provide an uniform rate of naturalization. A joint resolution was introduced, and adopted by a strict party vote, providing that in contested election cases where one of the claimants cannot take the test oath, the Committee shall so report to the House for action. Bills were passed abolishing the position of Chief of Staff to the General of the Army, and to prevent the assignment of any retired officer to active service. A resolution was offered for the creation of a Select Committee to inquire into the causes of the reduction of American tonnage in the foreign carrying trade. A bill to limit public expenditures was also introduced. A resolution was adopted calling for information relative to buildings and supplies in the War and Navy Departments. Some debate ensued on a proposition to extend the session, on the ground that the business is becoming excessive. Mr. LAWRENCE again attacked the Senate in his remarks, and was called to order. The resolution was finally adopted. A resolution to secure the rights of American citizens in the coast fisheries was adopted, and the House adjourned.

GENERAL.

The news from the seat of war in Paraguay is unimportant. The Brazilian Secretary of Foreign Affairs, JOSEPH MARIE DE SILVA PARANHAS, was about to establish a Provisional Government.

One night last week a policeman in Chicago detected two students endeavoring to smuggle two dead bodies into a medical college. He arrested the students and secured one of the bodies, which proved to be that of a young woman, evidently but recently buried. The students were held to answer in $300 bail. Considerable excitement prevailed among the students and persons living near the college.

In the Philadelphia Supreme Court yesterday, application was made for a writ of error in the case of TWITCHELL, the convicted murderer. The application was pronounced too late, though Judge THOMPSON said he would examine the papers.

The Cascade Paper Mills at Penn Yan, N. Y., were destroyed by fire on Saturday, causing a loss of $125,000; insured for $50,000.

The shooting of Mrs. SHAAFF, near Fort Wayne, Ind., which was reported to have occurred accidentally while she was cleaning her house, proves, on investigation, to have been the willful act of some person unknown. The murderer must have shot her from outside the house. Although there were many articles of value on the premises, nothing was disturbed.

It is said that Governor PAGE, of Vermont, is now in Washington urging the passage of an act authorizing the construction of a bridge over Lake Champlain at Ticonderoga, with some probability of succeeding.

The Baptist Church at Methuen, Mass., was destroyed by fire on Sunday. The fire was discovered while the congregation was being dismissed, and all escaped without any accident occurring.

A swindler went into an extensive jewelry establishment in Baltimore, a few days ago, pretending to have several bags of gold dust or filings. He exhibited a genuine bag as a sample, and the jeweler bought all by it, paying $2,700. The remaining bags proved spurious. The swindler escaped.

The Board of Aldermen yesterday instructed their Committee on Ferries to inquire into the matter of the boats of the Harlem Navigation Company landing passengers from this City at Astoria and other points, the Company having no ferry franchise. The resolution making it necessary for owners of public vehicles to get the approval of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals before obtaining a license, was lost. The resolution protesting against the Broadway and Tenth-street Stage Line bill, was concurred in.

The Police Commissioners yesterday took evidence in the case of Captain YOUNG, Chief of the Metropolitan Police Detectives. He denied their jurisdiction, and declined to appear for trial. The Commissioners unanimously dismissed him from the force.

The Board of Assistant Aldermen yesterday concurred in adopting a protest to the Legislature against the passage of an act granting certain privileges to the Tenth-street and Broadway stage line. A resolution was adopted directing the renumbering of the avenues where not already done.

A mass meeting of the different trades unions, representing 60,000 workingmen, will take place to-night at the Cooper Institute. The object will be to take measures to draw all the mechanics of the City into unions, to act in political matters as one organization.

Cotton was in moderate demand yesterday at a shade stronger prices. Breadstuffs were less freely sought after; prices generally favor buyers. Provisions were not in much request, as a rule; Pork was lower; Lard heavy. Groceries were in demand; Sugars buoyant. The freight market was quiet.

Prices for beef cattle are maintained at high figures, with ready sales for prime beeves at 16c.@17c. ₩ lb., net weight. A goodly number of the best cattle were sold, yesterday, at Communipaw yards for 17½c.@18c. ₩ lb. Prices are firmer than last week, and much in favor of sellers for any kind of cattle that are fit to eat. Prices of mutton sheep continue firm, and seem to be advancing. Mutton sells readily in the dead-meat market at 10c.@15c. ₩ lb., by the carcass. Some extra-fed sheep were quoted at 20c. ₩ lb., by the carcass. Live sheep, if fat, sell for 7c.@9c. ₩ lb., gross weight. Inferior lots were sold for less than 7c. ₩ lb., while some really fat ones were reported as sold at 9c.@10c. ₩ lb., gross weight. Swine are well maintained at 13½c.@14c. ₩ lb., with a few lots at 14¼c.@14½c. ₩ lb. for City dressed. Prime corn-fed hogs retail at 15c. ₩ lb., by the carcass. Veal calves, dressed, 15c.@20c. ₩ lb., by the carcass.

The Erie Railway Company as a Political Power.

The Erie Railway Company, under the control of its present audacious and unscrupulous managers, has suddenly become a gigantic and grasping political power, and as such at this moment confronts the Legislature and threatens to control the politics of the State. It is hardly possible to foresee what this new power may propose; and it will be very difficult to arrest anything it shall undertake. It is impossible to appreciate the strength and danger of this new element, as a political power, without testing its capacity for mischief by what it has accomplished in other fields within the last ten months.

Up to October last, the Erie Railway Company had been a quiet, embarrassed corporation, managed by a Board of Directors, who, aside from an occasional Wall-street stock speculation, in which some of them perhaps engaged, devoted themselves solely to the duty of operating the road. All the directors participated at the monthly meetings of the Board, and the corporation was without participation or power in the judicial or legislative departments of the State.

A glance will trace the rapid steps by which this Company and its present managers have advanced to a position that should arrest public attention.

1. A few unknown Wall-street stock speculators combined, purchased proxies, got control of the last October election, turned out or set at defiance the old, well-known directors and usurped supreme authority.

2. GOULD, FISK, and LANE suddenly appeared as having absolute power in the Board of Directors, scorned the other directors, refused them all participation in the business of the Company, declined to have any meetings of the Board of Directors; and since have had none. This consummated the revolution in the Board, and no director has asserted his rights, and each of the excluded directors makes his justification by pleading his want of knowledge of what has been done, and of power to prevent it. Thus the Board has been practically annihilated and the usurpation made complete.

3. The usurpers then issued more than twenty millions of new stock secretly, sold it, got the money for it, did what they pleased with the money, and defied the stockholders. The latter resorted to the Courts. There they were confronted by the Erie managers, who got one of their own number made receiver. In that way the door of redress was closed against the stockholders, until Judge SUTHERLAND named Judge DAVIES a receiver. Then the Erie managers claimed that no receiver at all was needed, and again they succeeded, and Judge CARDOZO decided there should be no receiver, and there is none; and thus the stockholders were laid prostrate before this new power, and our Courts were shown to be unavailable for redress. Such was the conquest of the Judiciary.

4. The same power, in the meantime, had ruled over Wall-street, putting up and putting down one after another, stocks, at pleasure, by the use of the vast sums of money received from the earnings of the road or the creation and sale of tens of millions of new stock whenever convenient. If Wall-street was not utterly subdued, it was only because it excluded Erie stock from the sales at the public Boards, and found protection only by casting out an element too dangerous and powerful to be handled.

5. As the result of these proceedings, the managers, or some of them, acquired sudden wealth, secured controlling influence in other corporations, purchased theatres and opera houses and palatial residences on Fifth-avenue, while, for the first time, dividends were not made on the preferred stock, and the floating debt of the Company increased.

6. The Attorney-General of the State at one time indicated some feeble purpose of resistance, but the same new power, so potent elsewhere, contrived a suit in the name of the people, and it quietly slumbers in the Court of Judge BALCOM on the banks of the Susquehanna, as harmless as the bones of the savages that moulder in the same region. Here was another victory.

7. The next field in which victory was desirable was the State Legislature. This seems to have been the easiest conquest of all. The Legislative Committee has succeeded, thus far, in disclosing just details enough to place beyond question two facts; first, that enormous sums of money were used by the Erie managers to influence legislation, and second, that the legislative power is paralyzed or indifferent, and cannot, as the law now stands, probe the corruption to the bottom and fix responsibility and guilt where they belong.

It may be assumed, we fear, that the Legislature will do nothing that will punish or even expose the most audacious and corrupting usurpations and abuses in corporate management which this generation has seen. Thus those three men who have got into supreme control of a great corporation by means, which six months since few were bold enough to imagine, and which no man having any claims on public respect will now dare justify, are triumphant over their fellow directors, the stockholders, the Courts of this City, the Attorney-General and the Legislature.

But this is not all; there is yet a wider field of domination, another enemy of absolute power in this corporation to conquer. That field is the wide arena of State politics, and that enemy is Republican supremacy in this State.

The plans of the final victory have long been laid, and the triumph is certain, if those threatened are not aroused.

The party that elected the Governor last Fall has the Central Railroad Company, the Harlem Railroad Company, the Hudson River Railroad Company, in full sympathy with it, and has a majority of the other roads. To add the Erie Railway Company to the others, even under ordinary management, would be dangerous enough, but the consummation now threatened is vastly more dangerous.

When the Erie Railway Company was made a foot-ball in the hands of a desperate set of stock-jobbers, it also became the ally and the treasury of a political party; and measures were inaugurated and have since been steadily pursued, which have made this corporation a new and gigantic political power—a threatening and prolific source of corruption, disturbance and danger in the great arena of party politics.

If blindness, bribes and retainers have thus far prevented the party leaders here from speaking or seeing, and have kept the people in ignorance, they have not prevented sagacious and high-toned men at a distance from seeing and proclaming, if not the reality, at least the possibility of the danger.

An article in the North American Review for January last, written by CHARLES FRANCIS ADAMS, Jr., contains the following striking passage:

> "The spoils of victory are large enough already, and few thoughtful men can doubt as to what would be the result if political victory carried with it a power and patronage such as hitherto have not been dreamed of, even in the imaginations of the most corrupt of the Tammany Ring. The Tammany ring is bad, very bad, in its kind; the Erie ring is bad, very bad, in its kind; as yet, however, they are not the same. Imagine the Erie and Tammany rings rolled into one and turned loose on the field of politics and the result of State ownership of railroads will be realized."

The vast power and patronage of Tammany is known. It made HOFFMAN Governor, and BARNARD and CARDOZO Judges, and HALL Mayor, and TWEED Senator, and SWEENY City Chamberlain, and SEYMOUR a Presidential candidate, and controls this City absolutely, and the Democracy of the State substantially.

Tammany itself is controlled by a ring, in which TWEED and SWEENY are potent, and of which others that need not be named are members.

When the present managers of the Erie Company decided to usurp supreme power in the Corporation, they did so in concert with the Tammany ring. They resolved to invoke politics for the protection of usurpation and plunder. It was arranged that Erie and Tammany—rather their managers—should plan, and work, and flourish, and get wealth, or fall and go to ruin together. The Erie put into the partnership its treasury and the available influence of its thousands of employes, and Tammany put in its name, its prestige, its political influence and some of its choicest spirits. It was the most stupendous, the most corrupt, and the most dangerous combination of financial means and political influence ever made in this State or on this continent.

The possible profits were vast fortunes to all concerned, and political supremacy in the Empire State. There was no delay in carrying out the scheme. Two experienced railroad directors gave place to two Tammany Hall lawyer-politicians. WILLIAM M. TWEED and PETER B. SWEENY became Erie directors, and are believed to be the only directors that their political friends—JAY GOULD, JAMES FISK, Jr., and FREDERICK A. LANE—ever consult.

PETER B. SWEENY soon appears as a receiver of the Erie Railway Company, secretly, and without notice to either party in the suit then pending, appointed by Judge BARNARD to succeed a son-in-law of Commodore VANDERBILT. Very soon Judge BARNARD allows Mr. SWEENY one hundred and fifty thousand dollars out of the Erie treasury; although Mr. SWEENY had devoted no time, rendered no services, received no property, and taken no responsibility as such receiver.

What was done with all this money we do not know, and probably the people will not know, at least till Tammany and Erie render up their secrets.

While Tammany and Erie were thus in power, it was necessary, for appearance sake, that certain honorable men of the opposite party should be in the Board of Directors, and they were put there. But it was arranged that they should have, and they do have, no power whatever. They have attended no meeting of the Board or of the Executive Committee, (save merely to elect GOULD President,) and they, in self-defence, disown all knowledge of what the managers have done since the October election.

In every way the partnership has flourished. It now only needs, to secure its continued prosperity, that the present Legislature should ratify or whitewash what has been done since October last. This once done, and Tammany and Erie may set every power in the State at defiance. The coiled serpent will then boldly raise his head and hiss defiance to all about him, and will have little to fear in the future.

Let us refer to a few facts which will show that these statements are not exaggerated.

1. So long as the present managers can create and sell stock at pleasure, how can their reëlection be prevented, even if the Courts of this City having jurisdiction of Erie matters could be expected to make any decision adverse to Erie?

2. It does not require any argument to prove that a corporation managed by three men who sympathize with Tammany Hall, under the advice of PETER B. SWEENY and WILLIAM M. TWEED, will do as much as circumstances will permit to uphold and perpetuate the dominion of Tammany, and thereby enable Tammany to keep the Erie managers in their places. It will be more than the sword and the purse united.

3. The Erie Railway and its branches runs through about two hundred towns, has influential agents in most of them and many employes in each. In every town it pays money and exerts influence. It is easy to see how it may poll scores of votes in each town and otherwise decide an election. If it has elected twenty members this year, it can readily elect thirty next. And when it is noted that from its seventeen directors this year three are members of the Legislature, this estimate may be considered very moderate as to its political tendency and capacity.

4. The regular earnings of the Erie and its old branches are about $15,000,000, and it has more than twelve thousand men in its employ in this State. Now that the Company has become the political ally of Tammany Hall, need its agents ever want funds or its candidates votes? If the Committee or the Senate find that $500,000 was set apart in a lump for Albany use, before this alliance was consummated, is it difficult to imagine what may happen in the future? When neither the Legislature nor the Courts have succeeded in discovering anything which the Erie managers have not chosen or wished to disclose, can they hesitate in the future to do anything which party leaders and party exigencies may demand?

5. Is it not apparent that, even without resorting to the use of naturalization papers, as is believed to have been the case last Fall, the sagacious distribution of these fifteen thousand men along the line, just prior to elections, would enable the Erie and Tammany managers to elect almost whom they pleased all along the Erie and its branches?

6. But even these facts do not indicate the magnitude and possibilities of this new political power.

Since the fortunes of Tammany and Erie were united the Erie usurpers have, in violation of law and in the name of that Company, leased a considerable railroad in New-Jersey; have leased the Atlantic and Great Western Railroad, being several hundred miles of road in New-York, Pennsylvania and Ohio; have leased the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton Road, and have purchased and put in operation a line of twenty steamers on the Western lakes. These acquisitions are to be retained at all hazards by the aid of the partnership, and their earnings swell the amount of money annually received and disbursed by these managers to little short of twenty-five millions of dollars, and the number of men in their daily employ to little less than twenty-five thousand. When it is borne in mind that railroad men can make their residence almost where they please, that they can readily vote anywhere along the line, it will be plainly seen that this new political power does not alone threaten elections in towns and villages, but in States as well. It will require no great exertion of that skill exhibited by Tammany last Fall to give Ohio, Pennsylvania or New-York three or five thousand more Democratic votes than its share in any coming election.

If the Erie managers have their way in the present Legislature, the Erie and Tammany rings, a body "rolled into one and turned loose on the field of politics," and propelled by the joint power of the money of the Erie managers and of the patronage of the Tammany managers, will roll over and crush all before it. Those who do not expect to ride in its car, and are not willing to be crushed beneath its progress, will do well to see that it does not acquire a more destructive momentum. No such corrupt and formidable political power ever appeared in the field of New-York politics.

The Indian Appropriations.

The Indian Appropriation bill which passed the House is the one which passed that body at the end of the Fortieth Congress, and which, being sent to the Senate, was overloaded with amendments until it sank.

It appropriated the sum the House Committee called for—namely, $2,413,816; this the Senate nearly trebled last session by adding items amounting to $4,341,902. It now remains to be seen whether the same disagreement will again occur. The difference in view is this: The House bill proposed only to pay the amounts stipulated for in existing Indian treaties, while the Senate added those necessary for the treaties made since last August by the Indian Peace Commission. The House action has the advantage of providing at once for an expenditure about which there cannot be a dispute. The Senate action has a certain show of reason in precipitating the general question of our Indian policy—a most important question, involving the whole matter of Indian treaties, Indian government, Indian agents, and Indian wars.

There should be no objection, apparently, to considering these two matters separately—that is, adopting the House theory, to appropriate forthwith what money is actually, indisputably and urgently necessary, and then debating the later Indian treaties, and our Indian policy as a question by itself. The spirited preliminary discussion in the House, though premature, was sufficiently indicative of the feeling of Congress and the country upon the present Indian system. What we call our "Indian policy" is only a vast quagmire, into which contractors tumble annually millions of appropriations, making it, however, only more hopeless than ever.

When Mr. WOOD denounces the treaty system as "a fraud on the Treasury and an injury to the Indians," he keeps within the bounds of fact. Mr. LAWRENCE publicly declares not only that "the whole Indian Bureau is rotten and a mere den of thieves," but that "treaties have been put through the Senate when there were not six Senators present;" and the recent abuse of the treaty-making power in regard to the Indians, is matter of history. At the very start, the question comes up, are the Indians foreign Powers? If not,—and certainly, while inhabiting our territory, subject to our laws, they are not,—the very word "treaty" is a misnomer. Yet that word has been used of late years, and under cover of it, what is really a contract or agreement, and, as such, a matter of legislation, has been exalted to the super-legislative character of a treaty.

We admit that difficulties surround the subject; that the status of the hostile tribes especially, is anomalous; that it might be as unsatisfactory to call them "insurgents" or "rebels" as foreign enemies; that there is something of the nature of a treaty hanging about our compacts with them. Nevertheless, there is no such anomaly or confusion as justifies the subordination of the treaty-making power to the legislative power in Indian matters, so as to justify the former in buying and selling public lands through treaties with Indian tribes. Mr. JULIAN tells us that the new Administration opposes this latter practice, and is anxious to break it up. It is clear, at all events, that with nearly a dozen new Indian treaties pending, and the appropriations required so large, it is worth while to see on what general principles we shall proceed, what claims the Indians really have on us, and how these claims may best be satisfied.

Naval Uniform.

Some of our contemporaries are making merry over the late General Order No. 90 of the Navy Department, changing again the insignia of rank throughout the navy, from Admiral down to Midshipman, from Captain to Carpenter and Sailmaker. But, in truth, this matter, to those whom it concerns, is by no means trivial. The uniform question is a leading one with all men whose duties compel them to wear a uniform, from postmen to policemen, from firemen to Freemasons, from militiamen to volunteers, and so on to regular troops of both army and navy. To sailors, soldiers and civilians, we say, in camp, in court and on quarter-deck, the question of uniform and, above all, that of insignia of rank, is one of constant discussion.

Now, it so happens that the tendency in these matters is toward profuse show. Often, in war times, when deeds are more conspicuous than rank, there is a revulsion toward simplicity in dress—the gorgeous epaulette gives way to a plain shoulder-strap, the cocked hat to the kepi, and a General is sometimes caught out on his picket line in an old gray blouse, with nothing external to distinguish him from his men. But the ordinary tendency is the other way—toward enormous swathes of gold lace, especially in the navy.

Secretary BORIE's order is directed toward simplicity. It is a good one, and called for by the present array and display of gold bands about coat-cuffs. A very high naval officer's arm had got to looking like a barber's pole. The matter, however, is now simplified. Formerly, also, it would require much knowledge and narrow inspection to determine whether an officer was of the staff or line; but now, however, the staff, as in the English Navy, are to wear colored cloth between the strips of gold lace around the sleeve—medical officers cobalt blue, paymasters white, and engineers red. This order displays a practical knowledge of the necessities of the service; and, with the exception of the changed insignia of rank, it leaves the uniform of the navy as before.

Marshal Niel and the French Army.

Marshal NIEL, we learn by Cable, has been urging upon the French Chambers the necessity of pressing forward the reorganization of the army, according to the system promulgated by him twelve months ago. One would have thought that by this time the process might have been completed, but it seems as if this so-called "reorganization" of the army were simply a phrase designed to conceal, under the guise of an exceptional and temporary measure, that constant increase in the military resources of France which has been going on ever since the first symptoms of ill-will between herself and Prussia were manifested. We do not, in fact, quite understand what it is for which Marshal NIEL requires the coöperation of the Chambers. His measure of last year, which was passed with certain amendments by the Chambers, certainly provided for raising an army such as even France had never before possessed, and the powers granted to the Ministry and the military authorities were such as ought to have satisfied even the Emperor and his official entourage. But still, though repeating the usual stereotyped assurances of confidence in the security of peace, Marshal NIEL harps upon the old story, so familiar by this time to French ears, when increased taxation and additional levies are looming in the distance—France must be "fully prepared to avenge an insult if offered." This has hitherto always proved effective as a means of raising money and exciting the military ardor of the people, and it will probably do so still.

Marshal NIEL did not, however, tell his hearers from whom the "insult" might be expected. The budget report, we are told, describes the situation in Europe as "eminently peaceful." It certainly seems a little strange that with Europe "eminently peaceful," and peace being "secure," that the danger of this "insult," which some unknown Power is always supposed to be on the point of offering to France, should continue to haunt the minds of the Emperor and his Ministers. It is true that a few Belgian journals have been using somewhat dislogistic language with regard to the Emperor personally of late, but an alleged "insult" to France from Belgium would savor a little too much of the story of the wolf and the lamb. We can only hope that, from whatever quarter the "insult" may be anticipated, the Imperial Government will have sufficient regard for the best interests of France, as well as of Europe, not to take any steps calculated to precipitate it.

MINOR TOPICS.

The Fowl Fair, which opened yesterday, was a great success, so far as concerned the variety of the show. Now that the war is over, and JOHNSON's administration is over, it is delightful to see the people amusing themselves and indulging in profitable pride by the display of their hens.

Explorers in quest of an open Polar Sea may find the object of their search without going far from home. They have only to take an observation of the Hudson River, where they will see poles enough, swaying in serried rows with the wind and tide, and supporting submerged gill-nets. The fact is, that shad will be soon running up stream, and fishermen are already prepared to capture them. The fish-poles, without doubt, are a serious obstruction to the navigation of the river and bay, frequent accidents to shipping having occurred by contact with them. But in spite of this drawback, we should be loth to dispense with the fine-flavored North River shad, and we wish the hardworking fishermen boisterous good luck all the season.

The judgment of the Supreme Court, recently pronounced, on the question of gold contracts, renders it highly desirable that the country should now be furnished with a paper currency on the basis of coin value. Why not amend the law authorizing the issue of gold certificates, so as to permit the Secretary of the Treasury to issue such certificates as currency in denominations less than $20,—these certificates to be offered in exchange for coin and bullion, dollar for dollar; and then instruct the Secretary to receive coin and bullion for this purpose, not only in the Treasury at Washington and New-York, (as now,) but at other important commercial centres, particularly at San Francisco,—thus extending the benefits of the system to the whole country? Congress ought to attend to this before adjournment.

The number of colored applicants for office is constantly increasing. We hear of them in pursuit of places in the diplomatic service, in the revenue service and in the Post Office Department.

The Bourbon marriage in this City on Saturday is not the first romantic marriage among the Bourbons, nor is it the first time that a member of this great and ancient royal line has gone out among the people to make a marriage match. On the contrary, there are not a few such incidents in Bourbon history, as is well known to those familiar with the different branches of the family. Among Bourbons, as well as among other people, "love laughs at locksmiths."

As usual, we have warlike news from Hayti. There seems to be little prospect of an end to the wretched fighting which has so long been kept up there. We should assuredly have nice work for our soldiers if we undertook to extend a "protectorate" over the island.

We trust that some man will turn up in Congress to take the place of Mr. E. B. WASHBURNE,—so far, at least, as concerns his constant and earnest labors for retrenchment and economy in the administration of the public service. For years past Mr. WASHBURNE has been vigilant in his watch upon all sorts of expenditures, and latterly, as Chairman of the House Committee of Appropriations, his efforts have been of higher value than ever. We cannot at this moment designate the member fit to be his successor in these duties; but if his place as economical reformer be not quickly filled, the country will lose by the vacancy.

France, according to Marshal NEIL, must now keep up her huge army in order to be "fully prepared to avenge insult." After this declaration, Prussia must keep up hers for the same reason, and Austria and Russia theirs for the same reason. Suppose these great military Powers could come to an agreement not to "insult" each other for ten years, what a fine thing it would be for their army-ridden, tax-crushed people!

During the three mouths in which the Cuban insurrection has disturbed the island, there has been no uprising in Havana, though there has been a very excitable spirit both among the Spaniards and native Cubans. Latterly, however, the state of affairs there has looked very threatening, and the disturbances on Sunday last show that an outbreak may be looked for at any time. Though the Spanish troops can undoubtedly hold Havana, the bursting forth of insurrection in the city would terribly darken their prospects of victory over the rebellion.

The little French journal, the Peuple—NAPOLEON's paper—is lecturing the Belgian Government with a lofty air for the scanty amount of Belgian suffrage lately conceded in the act of the 13th of February. The reign of the middle classes was put down in 1848. Well, that is a lesson for Belgium. The Peuple is, in fact, the champion of Democracy against the Belgian Government, showing how the Belgians would be glad to make a zoll-verein or free trade arrangement, by which their coal could pass over the frontier into France—a country that has the interest of Belgium warmly at heart, and wants to have no sort of Pyrenees in that direction, either.

Common sense crops out very often among the "formations" of ancient custom in the world. The necessity of deciding disputes in trade by arbitration, instead of the venerable juggleries of law, is felt in a great many places. In the north of England the people of Darlington who are engaged in the iron trade, have agreed that they will not go into law courts to settle their differences, but lay them before a few plain men. This shows that the Darlingtons are an honest set; for the law is one of the grand subterfuges of roguery everywhere, and as a general thing.

Ireland drinks less whisky than Scotland, though her population is twice as large. The late Budget shows that while the latter country drank, in 1868, 4,907,701 gallons, Ireland drank but 4,773,710 gallons. England at the same time consuming more than both together—over eleven millions of gallons. As whisky is a great element of the British Government—to parody ACHILLE MURAT's saying in respect of our own—it will be seen that the Irish are still disaffected in spite of GLADSTONE's bill. They will not drink the health of their Sassenach rulers by any indirection, though, no doubt, as thirsty as ever.

We had a news item the other day that a rich man in Lynchburg, now dangerously sick, has given in his will $100,000 to the University of Virginia. This announcement must certainly have placed the authorities of the University in a moral quandary. As Christians, they are certainly bound to pray for the recovery and long life of their benefactor; but if they could see that their prayers would be answered and the benefaction of $100,000 thus held back for twenty, thirty or forty years, would they be able to pray with proper fervor and sincerity? The gift, it will be observed, comes after the donor's death, and its speedy receipt is dependent upon his brevity of life. Either the money should have been paid over at once, or the item in the good man's will should not have been announced.

An English clergyman has been publishing the result of his investigations into the physical condition of the rural population, and certainly his conclusions are anything but cheerful. He believes they are fast deteriorating in physique; their powers of life seem to be weakening; their style of living has not improved. In the course of twenty years nothing has changed for the better, except that tea and sugar are cheaper Meat is dearer, and flour "has hardly fallen at all on the average." Milk, butter and vegetables are more difficult to get than ever. Rent is higher than it used to be. The people have weak constitutions, and their children are also sickly, and although medical science prevents so many deaths among infants as used to occur, yet the babes only grow up to be still more enfeebled than their parents, and "engender a third generation more degenerate than ever." Certainly the condition of the country people in America could not be described in this way. Their food, their dwellings, their physical condition and their general welfare have all been vastly improved within the last twenty years.

The Emigrant Ship James Foster, Jr.

There was a large attendance yesterday in the United States buildings in Montague-street, Brooklyn, of passengers of the emigrant ship James Foster, Jr., from Liverpool, on its recent voyage to this port. Mr. E. L. PARRIS, Assistant United States District-Attorney, is preparing the affidavits of a number of the passengers, in which they complain of rather rough treatment on board ship while on the high seas.

Bartholomew Tobin, who was employed as cook on board the James Foster, Jr., deposed that the carpenter of the ship had committed an assault on him with a hammer during the time they were on the high seas.

John Foster, a passenger, charged the same person with assaulting him with a club, and inflicting upon him injuries of a very serious character.

Bartholomew Tobin also alleged that the carpenter kicked and beat a man named John Stokes, on the head, breast and back, in so brutal a manner that Stokes died on the 4th of March from the effects of the injuries inflicted on him; Tobin also alleges that while the carpenter was kicking Stokes, Armstrong, the first mate, was aiding him, and that the injuries then inflicted were, in his opinion, the cause of the death of Stokes.

Entertainment to the Street Boys.

Last night another of those interesting and amusing entertainments for the benefit of the newsboys was given at their Home, No. 327 Rivington-street, by Dr. GEORGE M. BEARD, of this City. The subject was "Electricity Illustrated by the Galvanic Battery." Dr. BEARD showed the most intimate familiarity with his subject. He explained to the boys in a most lucid and masterly manner, the nature, power and uses of electricity, and referred to VOLTA and GALVANI, the originators of the batteries that are called by their respective names. The large assemblage of boys was intensely interested in the subject, and greatly amused with the practical illustrating of the working of the galvanic battery. Several songs were sung under the leadership of Mr. KNOWLES, and on the motion of their Superintendent, Mr. CALDER, the boys accorded to Dr. BEARD a hearty vote of thanks.

The Printers' Strike.

It is to be hoped that the strike of the journeymen printers may speedily come to an end. Committees from the Typographical Union and the Typothetæ, or Employers' Union, met in conference yesterday at the Astor House, but adjourned without coming to a definite arrangement. The conference is to be resumed very shortly.

The Typographical Union will meet to-night at 68 East Broadway, at 7 o'clock, for the purpose of attending the workingmen's mass meeting at the Cooper Institute. Their procession will be headed by the Seventy-ninth Regiment band. Mr. W. J. McGRATH will act as Marshal, and Messrs. GEARY and DOUGHERTY as aids.

Hon. H. J. WARWICK, of California, will deliver his popular lecture on "The Golden Land of the West," at the hall over the Post Office, this (Tuesday) evening. The lecture will be delivered under the auspices, and for the benefit of Fulton Division No. 80, S. of T.

CUBA.

Education — Insurgent Schoolmasters — The War News, Official and Unofficial—The Policy of Confiscation—Miscellaneous Intelligence.

From Our Own Correspondent.

HAVANA, Tuesday, March 16, 1869.

Education in the Island of Cuba has always been desired by all parties, and thousands of plans for its promotion have been laid, but never carried into execution. The Spaniards were either too lazy or else too much under the influence of the priesthood to care much about the Cubans, or perhaps there was not a sufficient amount of money to allow the privileged few the usual and much-prized chance to steal. In order to give a young Cuban a somewhat respectable education, it was necessary to send him out of the country, or else to plant him as a student in that old fogy establishment, the Havana University, there to spend from eight to twelve years in acquiring a knowledge which would have been imparted to him equally well and perhaps better, in half the time, in some European (but not Spanish) university. But the Cubans, with the means at their command, although hampered by a despotic Government, did not take the interest such as this important matter demanded, it being their future hope and principal object to throw off the yoke of Spain and lay the foundation of a powerful and self-sustaining country. The want of educated masses is severely felt by the Revolutionists in the field, who have long ago found out that the intelligent and educated insurgent is exceedingly valuable and trustworthy, while the ignorant cannot be relied on, and in many instances must be watched. Within the past few years matters in certain portions of the Island have improved somewhat, so the priesthood has not been tardy in ascribing the present state of affairs in the Island to the teachings of the schoolmasters, the largest proportion being native Cubans; but their camarilla has only had the effect of producing a change of personel, and to-day or to-morrow it is expected that an important order on the subject will be published. The Voz de Cuba, in speaking of this matter in connection with the known and acknowledged time-honored venality and corruptness of the Judiciary, says, in its yesterday's issue:

> "We again repeat what we stated in our former articles; there exist, without doubt, some, many individuals belonging to the judiciary who do not merit the confidence of the people, and who commit indiscretions in the administering of civil and criminal affairs, and perhaps worse offences, thanks to the subalterns in whose hands the cases rest for some time. Do not the people know employes of the police department in the cities or in the countries who commit grave abuses and are notoriously disaffected; and do not the public also know that there are many schoolteachers who abuse the trust reposed in them by parents, and disgrace the honorable profession they exercise by inculcating ideas in the heads of the young, making them opponents of their fatherland, and inspiring them with sentiments which, some day not far distant, will cause them to grow up to be the most bitter enemies of Spain and of their own fathers? To the last especially, who thus forget their duty, committing a crime as black as parricide, no consideration ought to be shown; and if any are convicted, they ought to be made an example of, and severely punished."

Thus far the Voz de Cuba, the bitterest Spaniard among all, the most outspoken among the Cuban journals, who ridicules the New-York Cronista for its sentimentality, annoys the old, staid and superlative non-committal Diario by refusing to cover up, in Diario fashion, the sins and rascalities of roguish Government employes, and quietly defeats the plans of the Prensa by exposing the bombatic articles in that paper. What can any correspondent or Cuban add, when the defender of the faith plainly says that the Judges are a pack of venal rogues, who sell justice to the highest bidder, and who add that the police in the city and country are disgraceful rogues? The Cuban organs in New-York need only to reproduce the articles of the ultra Voz de Cuba, and without comments, too, the acknowledgments of the Voz are quite sufficient.

OFFICIAL WAR NEWS.

According to the official Spanish advices we receive here, the skedaddling business of the insurgents continues. As we get but scattering reports from the other side, I give an extract of the latest famous Cuban battles, alias scrimmages, in brief:

SCRIMMAGE NO. 1.—The heroic defenders of the glorious flag of old Castile, commanded by an officer, who was accompanied by a few soldiers, surprised an encampment of rebels near Gibara, belonging to the so-called Trueno (Thunder) Company, killing twelve and capturing twenty-three fire-arms and two flags. The flags have been brought to this city by the steamship Pelayo.

Query: If the Cubans always run, how did the officer with his companions manage to kill twelve? And how did the steamer Pelayo carry any other freight besides the two flags? And if a portion of a company loses two flags, how many flags has a regiment? Perhaps some printed pocket-handkerchiefs were mistaken for them.

SCRIMMAGE NO. 2.—A telegram from the colony of St. Domingo says that the Villa Clara insurgents were routed with a loss of 175 killed; among these were several leaders.

If this is gospel, it will change from a scrimmage to a skirmish; and if 175 were killed, the Spanish doctrine that the Cubans always run is somewhat fallacious. Perhaps the Cubans are angels, and amuse themselves by flying over the heads of the troops, who pepper away at their leisure. Up to the present it appears that the Cubans have acted quite differently from Colonel DAVY CROCKETT's famous wild cat, which informed the redoubtable hunter, who was taking aim, very politely not to trouble himself and waste his powder, as it would come down. The Cubans, instead of coming down, come all over, and when the soldiers think they have caught them they are nowhere.

SCRIMMAGE NO. 3.—The troops which left Santiago de Cuba for the purpose of attacking the insurgents at Mayari, wonderful to relate, went there, and not to China or Japan. They captured the town and fortifications.

The town, I may note, is smaller than Miller's Hole, Cal., and the intrenchments are somewhat larger than an apple-woman's stand. According to the official account, the rebels ran, and if they haven't stopped they are running yet.

UNOFFICIAL WAR NEWS.

The insurgents are still in possession of the entire jurisdiction of Remedios, excepting the small portion along the railroad between that town and Caibarien. A commission, headed by Capt. FRANCISIO ARTARA, of the Caibarien Volunteers, has arrived here and asked the Captain-General to send some irregulars to Remedios, as the volunteers and few regulars there are worn out from excessive guard duty. There are there already 200 regulars and four companies of volunteers in the district. A company composed of free negroes is doing the hardest work, and has proved the most efficient. It is proposed to raise a number of companies of colored volunteers, who, accustomed to the climate, would prove of great service in the interior.

MOVEMENTS OF TROOPS.

The plan of the Spaniards in the Central Department is being carried out, and unless the Cubans manage to unite their forces and give their antagonists a good whipping, affairs will look very serious. The smaller isolated bands cannot for any great length of time cope as successfully with large bodies of regular troops as they do in the Eastern Department. The joint action of the forces of the Governor of Sagua, and of the reinforcements sent to St. Domingo from Cardenas, Colon and other points, and the advance march of General LETONA, will compel the insurgents to move toward Manicaragua, where the largest portion of these forces will follow them, whilst General PUELLO will detach half of his men and march westward to attack the insurgents in the rear, whilst his other half will prevent the Sancti Spiritus insurgents from joining their brethren at Manicaragua. I think that a very decisive action will take place in that vicinity, and will decide the fate of the insurgents in the upper half of the Central Department.

DISTRICT OF NUEVITAS.

In the vicinity of Nuevitas several skirmishes have taken place, the Government, as usual, claiming the victory, but with the anouncement that the troops always return to town after the fight. Reliable advices from Cuban sources, and not contradicted by the Government, confirm the fact that the entire district is in the hands of the Cubans, and that they are maintaining a very respectable force in the field. The Cuban Governor of San Miguel de Nuevitas, LUIS ZORGAS BAZAN, was killed in an encounter with the troops at Baga, the troops capturing 300 head of cattle which the insurgents had collected. It was reported that a large number of Cubans and others had landed at Roman Key, and the Spanish gunboat Venadito had gone thither to look after the matter.

POLICY OF CONFISCATION.

The journals are discussing confiscation, and feeling the pulse of the public in respect of that policy. From present appearances, it would seem that the idea meets with general favor, and that those who are sufferers by the war will be reimbursed out of the proceeds of the sales of rebel property; all this, of course, if the rebellion is defeated. The proposed law is somewhat milder than that passed by Congress when the South was defeated. Yet I am sure the measure will be considered very hard by those whose property may change hands without their consent. Nothing definite has been agreed upon, however, though it is expected that an early legislation will arrange the matter.

MISCELLANEOUS INTELLIGENCE.

The sailing of the Fernando Po expedition has again been deferred until Thursday. The Spanish man-of-war Francisco de Borja will go from here to Cadiz to supply itself with provisions and coal, after which the vessel will proceed to its ultimate destination. A second expedition is expected to be dispatched, the number of prisoners on hand making such a plan very easy of execution, as the prisons are full to overflowing. Two of the prisoners engaged in the fights with the volunteers, in January, have been sentenced—one to suffer capital punishment, the other to be a member of the chain-gang for life.

QUASIMODO.

HAYTI.

The Progress of the Revolution—Official Report of Commander Abbott.

WASHINGTON, Monday, March 22.

Rear-Admiral HOFF forwards voluminous reports from Commander ABBOTT, of the Yantic, ports from Commander ABBOTT, of the Yantic, of the progress of the revolution in Hayti.

Commander ABBOTT reports under date of Feb. 10, that the Yantic left Port-au-Prince on the 2d of that month for Aux Cayes, finding there on his arrival, the British war steamer Jason and a few foreign merchant vessels. The town was then besieged by SALNAVE's land forces, the inhabitants being in considerable excitement and alarm. DOMINGUES remained at Aux Cayes, determined on making vigorous resistance. On the 4th of February, the Haytian flagship, with SALNAVE on board, came into the harbor and anchored. On the next day SALNAVE sent, through the Yantic, notice to the different foreign Consuls and the inhabitants of Aux Cayes, announcing his determination to attack the town at 3:30 the next day, unless surrendered before. When the town was first invested by SALNAVE's troops, a number of the inhabitants, principally non-combatants, sought and obtained refuge on the merchant vessels in the harbor, and when SALNAVE's announcement was made, the number greatly increased.

The foreign Consulates were also overcrowded with refugees. On the evening of the 4th, DOMINGUES' Secretary of State requested an asylum on board the Yantic, which was refused; but he was sent on board a Norwegian bark. On the afternoon of the 6th, presuming a bombardment would take place, the merchant vessels, with the assistance of the Jason and Yantic, removed from the anchorage to a safer part of the bay. The threatened bombardment did not take place, however, and had not commenced when the Yantic sailed on the 8th. The President and Admiral were unwilling to begin the attack until the arrival of the Salnave, which was hourly expected. At the interview had by our officers with SALNAVE in regard to the protection of American interests and the disposition of refugees, the President was willing to do all he could to protect neutral interests, and would allow refugees, who were crowding merchant vessels in such a manner as to seriously endanger life, either to go to Aquia, the nearest place under SALNAVE's authority, or to return on shore. A majority chose the latter. Our Minister also had an interview with the rebel chief, DOMINGUES, and his Cabinet, but no pacific arrangements could be made with them, as they appeared determined to defend the town as long as possible. DOMINGUES said he had written to Mr. SEWARD, offering to annex to the United States that part of the island under his control, and requested the Minister to use the power of the United States to prevent SALNAVE from bombarding the town until Mr. SEWARD's reply was received. This was, of course, decidedly refused. On the morning of the 6th of February, our Minister, the Captain of the Jason and Commander ABBOTT had an interview with RAMO, DOMINGUES' principal adviser and Secretary of the Interior, and acquainted him with the offer made by the Captain of the Jason, to convey DOMINGUES, his Cabinet and principal officers, thirty miles in the direction of Jamaica. The offer was made from motives of humanity with SALNAVE's consent, but declined. Aux Cayes is defended on the sea side by three or four batteries, each mounting one or two guns. Commander ABBOTT was informed at Aux Cayes, by the Haytian Admiral, that the Mount Vernon was reported to have arrived at St. Marks for the use of the rebels. The above reports include a copy of a memorandum of military executions made by the rebel authorities at Aux Cayes, signed by parties who are certified to by JAMES DE LONG, United States Consul, as being worthy of full faith and credit. The details recount many acts of barbarity. The signers state, among other matters, that when the men in revolution desert the rebels, their wives are imprisoned, and, in many instances, shot. A later report from the Yantic, dated Feb. 26, states that Cape Haytien is surrounded by rebels, and the inhabitants appear to be destitute. On the 20th the Haytian war steamer Salnave entered the harbor at Gonaives, and that evening the rebels attacked the town, but were repulsed. The Mount Vernon was at anchor at St. Marks, the town being in possession of the rebels; but nothing about her indicated that she was other than a lawful merchant vessel. While at Aux Cayes the American Minister visited the Jason, and on leaving was saluted with fifteen guns, which was returned by the Yantic.

AMUSEMENTS.

Musical Notes.

"Faust" was given last evening to a house that was good, considering the season. The present week is not favorable to amusements, and there will be a falling off in the attendance at all the theatres until the glad Easter-tide once more releases the mind from its severer reflections. There is nothing whatever to be said of the performance. It resembled its predecessors in every respect. Miss KELLOGG was in fine voice, and sang and acted beautifully. To-night the performances are set apart for the benefit of Mme. ANNA DE LA GRANGE, a lady whose devotion, apart from her merit, has given her vast numbers of friends. We hope sincerely that the house may be filled, for no compliment is so flattering to an artist as this of attendance. MEYERBEER'S spectacular opera of "Le Prophete" has been selected for the occasion, a work in which the lady is seen to great advantage. On Wednesday Miss KELLOGG appears in "Fra Diavolo." It is the last night but one of the season. There will be no performance on Thursday or on Friday. On Saturday there will be a matinée, and in the evening a regular performance, bringing the season to a close. We are glad to know that the campaign has been a prosperous one. It was undertaken under circumstances that were by no means assuring, and few men, indeed, save Mr. MARETZEK, would have plunged into the enterprise. It has demonstrated that there is yet a lively feeling for Italian opera, and we do not doubt that with this encouragement Mr. MARETZEK will do vastly better next season.

Mr. GRAU selects the occasion of his benefit on Monday next to bring out OFFENBACH's opera bouffe of "La Vie Parisienne." The work was written before "La Grand Duchesse," and the music in many dance forms, has already become popular. The story is of the present time; the situations are extremely ludicrous, and the dialogue is pretty broad. These are reasons why the work should succeed. For the rest, Mr. GRAU has bestowed on it a distribution which includes every leading member of his company. The scenery and costumes are new.

The members of the Brooklyn Choral Union will give their fourth concert at the Academy of Music (Montague-street) to-night.

Another concert for the relief of the sick and wounded of the patriot army of Cuba took place at Irving Hall on Saturday evening. A large and fashionable audience was present. The musical part of the programme was partly interpreted by amateurs, of whom it is enough to say that they did well. The professional soloists were Mr. HARRY SANDERSON, (who played a Cuban dance in a way that electrified the audience,) Mr. LEVY, the famous cornet-à-piston, who was in admirable condition and played superbly, and Signor BAY, the tenor. The great attraction of the evening was the recitation and lecture by Mr. R. J. DE CORDOVA. He touched the hearts of all the Spaniards and Cubans present—we mean of the patriot sort—by the earnest and touching recitation of HEREDIA's poem, "Himno del desterrado." The applause was frequent and tumultuous. Mr. DE CORDOVA recited the poem, which is quite long, in Spanish. Subsequently Mr. DE CORDOVA delivered his well-known lecture on the "Soldier."

Shakespeare Readings in Brooklyn.

This evening Professor RAYMOND gives the second of the course of three readings before the Young People's Association of Mr. BEECHER's church. "Julius Cæsar" is the play offered to-night, and as it is one of the finest and strongest of SHAKESPEARE's creations, so also it is one of Mr. RAYMOND's best opportunities, and one which, with all its varying conditions of eloquent and stately speech, the humors and turbulence of street mobs, the tragedy in the Capitol, the stir of camp and field—and all the rest, is well and graphically rendered. Mr. RAYMOND's approaching departure for Europe makes it worth the while of the Brooklynites to hear all they can of him before he goes.

A Correction.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

In your last Sunday's issue you advertised that our Grand Sacred Concert would take place the same evening at Steinway Hall. Unable then to correct the misstatement, we hasten now to make known to our sympathizers that the concert will take place next Sunday evening, March 28, at Steinway Hall, and that the funds realized will be used for the benefit of the sick and wounded patriots in Cuba, irrespective of religion. It is sufficient for a man to fight and suffer on our side to merit the succor of our Association. By inserting this article you will oblige

Your obedient servants,
R. P. DE YZQUIERDO, President.

POULTRY FAIR.

First Annual Fair of the New-York State Poultry Society—Some Splendid Varieties of Fowls Exhibited.

The opening of the first annual Fair of the New-York State Poultry Society occurred yesterday. The exhibition will undoubtedly be the most complete and interesting in this department that has ever been offered upon this continent. There are about one thousand entries of birds, animals and implements, which is four hundred more than the entries in the Philadelphia Poultry Show last year; and that was considered the greatest accomplishment of the kind which Americans had attained. As yet, however, the Fair is in a very disorganized condition. Not more than half the entries have been received, while all the front portion of the Empire City Rink (where the Fair is held) is blocked up with huge packages, multifarious cages of gallinacea, and an endless assortment of Yankee inventions.

On entering the Rink we notice that the vast vault above is filled with roaring echoes of the cries of the animals below—with a mighty volume of sounds which seem composed of claps of thunder and the multiplied screeching of ungreased cart-wheels. On getting accustomed to this strange clamor, we begin to examine the cages of birds, and are soon lost in admiration of the beautiful creatures exhibited. The floor of the Rink is divided off into thirteen circles, equal to the number of classes of birds exhibited; while along the rear wall are the stalls and other inclosures appropriated for dogs, cats, and fancy quadrupeds of the smaller sort.

The first row of circles comprises Class G in the centre, with Class C on the right and Class D on the left. In the first-mentioned class are comprised all the French poultry. The centre cage contains the Mallory trio of Hondans—a group of magnificent speckled birds, of great beauty and liveliness. This trio gained the first premium at the Paris Exhibition. They are exhibited by Mr. SALISBURY, of Nyack, as are also No. 56 in this class—a trio of La Fleche birds, as black as ravens and exquisitely formed. No. 54 are Creve Cœurs, also very fine, plump and lively birds. This trio is valued at $140. Class D contains the Hamburgs. The principal subdivisions of these are the gold and the silver pencilled and the gold and the silver spangled. In each of these are exhibited trios of great beauty and value. The markings on the breasts of some of these birds are so delicately finished that they seem like a delusive touch of art. A pair of black Hamburgs, No. 26, are also well worth inspection. Class C comprises the Dorkings and Spanish fowls. Some black Spanish, No. 16, exhibited by Mr. SIDELL, are very fine birds. No. 17, White Leghorns, comprising trios exhibited by Mr. SALISBURY, are also capital specimens. They are a pure American breed of birds; and were recently figured in the Agriculturist.

The end row of circles comprise classes J, MR, and K. The first-mentioned class include swans and different varieties of geese. Class M includes the pigeons of which not above half the cages had arrived. Class R comprises all the rabbits, of which there were some really splendid specimens. The lop-eared Madagascar rabbits are, perhaps, the finest animals of this description that were ever exhibited. The Himalaya rabbits lie in their cages and regard the visitors with an obese dignity which is quite amusing. The entire collection is first-rate. Class K comprises about nine varieties of ducks; but the cages were not all in position, and, in fact, the whole of this portion of the exhibition is yet wanting in arrangement and completeness.

The centrpl group of seven circles is arranged in a hexagon, and fills the central part of the floor. In Class A, No. 19, of this group were noticed some handsome Silver Spangled Polands; and in No. 48 was a trio of the same variety of fowls, worth $50. We noticed also some very handsome Golden Spangled Polands; and a single pair of Buffs, which are a rarity. In Class B, No. 1, are Mr. G. H. LEAVITT's famous Dark Brahmas. This trio includes the only specimens of this variety of fowl to be found in the United States. They came over from Liverpool in the City of Brooklyn about a fortnight ago, and cost $140. The male bird is very tall, splendidly formed, and with a head, eye and comb of matchless beauty. This bird took the prize at the last Birmingham Show. He is one year old. The hens are not so tall, but are exceedingly well-formed birds. The voices of all three of them are horrible to the last degree. The coops exhibited by Mr. LEAVITT contain trios equally interesting. In No. 7 Mr. WARNER, President of the Society, exhibits a splendid trio of Partridge Cochins, and also some very fine Buffs of the same variety. It is impossible to notice all the birds in this class, although nearly every trio deserves special description and praise; they are all birds of extraordinary size and plumpness, and deserve the greatest attention from the fancier. Class E comprises the game birds, of which there are some fine varieties, including black reds, brown reds and shawlnecks. In Class F are the Polands. Mr. SIMPSON, of West Farms, offers a trio of Black Polands, worth $50. There are also some splendid golden-spangled Polands, and a pair of Buffs, which are exceedingly lively, well formed birds. The entire display of Polands is remarkably fine. Mr. SIDELL, of Englewood, N. J., exhibits some excellent specimens. The Bantams, in Class H, are all of the choicest varieties. There are some Silver Sebrights, which cost 25 guineas a pair. They are exhibited by Mr. WARNER. They are charming little creatures, exhibiting alternate fits of tameness and pugnacity; sometimes allowing themselves to be smoothed, and apparently feeling proud of the caresses, and then flying at the fingers and pecking them in high dudgeon. The Golden Sebright Bantams are also extremely beautiful, and scarcely larger than pigeons—indeed, a plump pigeon would outweigh the hens. The Japanese and Cochin Bantams are also well worth inspection; and, indeed, the class is among the most interesting exhibited. Class I contains turkeys, pheasants and pea-fowls. None of the latter have yet arrived. All the turkeys are magnificent specimens, and will doubtless be regarded with equal interest by gourmand and fancier. There is one splendid fellow in the rear of the circle, with bright blue wattles, and great majesty of demeanor. The circle which centres all the Fair comprises the fancy fowls, and is too incomplete for special notice.

As has already been mentioned, the stalls along the rear of the building include a variety of domestic animals. There is a very handsome Siberian bloodhound; there is a charming pair of English grayhounds, looking dreadfully disconsolate; there is a splendid specimen of the St. Bernard dog, a quiet, sociable creature, with a calm, grave eye; there are Esquimaux dogs, a bull terrier, a Scotch coley Shepherd dog; and a Newfoundland dog, which, contrary to the average disposition of his kind, seems disposed to bite all comers. Prizes are offered for cats: but the only specimens on exhibition yesterday were a Maltese, certainly a very beautiful creature, and two of the common sort, named "Tom and Jerry," exhibited by Mr. SIDELL. One of these last-mentioned performed the extraordinary service of nursing a chicken last year, a species of maternal occupation for which his gravity of disposition seemed eminently to fit him.

It will be seen from the above statement that the Fair was yesterday in a very incomplete condition. The exhibitors, however, were working hard throughout the day and night; and doubtless the exhibition will to-day present a much more finished appearance to the public.

Shocking Tragedy in Newark.

A disconsolate lover in Newark shot a young lady on Sunday evening last, to whom he had been engaged, and then committed suicide by blowing out his own brains. He is a young man named FREDERICK KNETTEL, aged 21, an upholsterer by trade. Her name is AUGUSTA BECKERLE. She is of respectable parentage, and her family are in good circumstances. He has been engaged to her for years, but her father having some time ago left for Germany, after their betrothal, the young man's suit was interfered with by Mrs. BECKERLE. This, added to the railings of his friends, made him desperate; he neglected his business and became almost insane. The difference between the young lovers increased every day, urged on as it was by the mother's aversion for the young man. On Tuesday last Miss BECKERLE returned him presents he had made her. This made him desperate, and on Sunday last he went to her house requiring an explanation, and asked her if she believed he would allow her to marry any one else. She told him to dismiss that matter, whereupon he sent a bullet through her brains and then shot himself dead. She died yesterday morning.

THE DETECTIVE TROUBLES.

Trial of Captain Young—He Refuses to Appear and is Dismissed from the Force.

At a meeting of the Police Board yesterday, Commissioners BRENNAN, BOSWORTH and MANNIERE being present, Captain JOHN S. YOUNG, Chief of the Detective Squad, was called to answer charges of insubordination and violation of the rules made against him because of his tender of his resignation as an answer to a resolution of the Board requiring him to make a report of all the money received by him from all sources, except as salary, since the first of January. The resolution of the Board, and the letter of Captain YOUNG in response, have been published in the TIMES, and our readers are in possession of the facts of the case.

When the case was called, Captain YOUNG did not appear, but the following letter was submitted:

NEW-YORK, March 22.

To the Honorable Board of Metropolitan Police, &c.:

Having been served, on the 19th inst., with what purports to be a copy of charges made to your honorable body against me as an (alleged) officer and member of the Metropolitan Police force, and a notice of trial upon these charges for this day, I beg, with all respect (while denying the truth of the charges) to object to the jurisdiction or right assumed by your honorable body in the premises.

Under section 17 of the Police act, unexplained absence of any member of the Metropolitan Police force for five days shall be deemed and held to be a resignation by such member, and accepted as such, within which category my case distinctly and clearly falls. Besides this, on the 17th inst. my written resignation of all connection with the force was duly filed with the chief clerk of the Department. This, under section 17, having occurred without the permission of your honorable body, was attended with the forfeiture of the salary or pay due me at that time, but with no other penalty.

Having been advised by counsel, in view of section 17 of the Police act, and the decision of the Court of Appeals in the People vs. The Board of Metropolitan Police, (26 New-York Reports 316,) that any attempt on the part of your honorable body to try me on the proposed charges is wholly without legal warrant, and that if persisted in my remedy is in the direction of the ordinary courts of justice, I am constrained to protest (as I hereby do) against the proceedings commenced and threatened to be continued against me, and to notify you respectfully that I am not and do not mean by any act of mine to be a party to, or in any way identified with them. In sending this communication to your honorable body, you will expressly understand that I do not intend in any form to affirm your action or waive any of my legal rights.

Very respectfully, &c., JOHN S. YOUNG.

The Commissioners did not admit this view of the case to be correct, and proceeded with the case, when the following testimony was taken:

James Irving, detective, said he had been under Captain Young since September, 1867; received a letter stating that Captain Young had received a reward of $16,000 on account of the National Bank robbery, in Baltimore; on the morning of 10th February was ordered by Captain Young to get a coach; they drove to William-street, and after remaining half an hour drove to No. 61 Broadway to wait for a man who was expected to negotiate bonds; Young said "There is a case by which a few hundred dollars can be made; if so I'll give you one hundred;" witness and another detective named Edsell got in through a window and opened the door for Capt. Young; arrested Mike Shinburn and Jas. McQuade, with a box of bonds in their possession; heard from Young that the amount was $99,500; some ten days after witness showed him the letter, and Young said in reference to the $16,000, "that's about it;" Young offered witness $500, but he refused to take it; the signal to be given for the arrest was to be the making a sound by opening the safe; as soon as witness got in one of the prisoners presented a pistol at him; he caught the prisoner's arm, and Young also caught him; the men were taken to headquarters and locked up; witness does not know what was done with the bonds; there was no one in the room but the prisoners when the witness made the arrest.

Superintendent Kennedy testified that on the 11th of February Young told witness that he had arrested James Weber and James McQuade negotiating to sell certain bonds to a man assisting in the arrest; Young handed him $99,500 in bonds, which were subsequently handed to one of the directors of the National Bank of Maryland; Young said that he would get twenty per cent. on the market value of the bonds; witness then went away, but previously Young told him that he would get $16,000; he had not the money then, but he had its equivalent; since his return Young said he had received $16,000; he did not give notice to the Superintendent, however, in accordance with the rule; on the Saturday previous to the arrest, he called into the office, said he had been sent for by a broker down town, who said a sample of bonds had been offered him at such a price as made him believe that they were not honestly come by; the broker was willing to place the man in such a position as would enable Captain Young to arrest him, and, if possible, recover the money; they had previous information that bonds had been lost in Maryland, but they did not know that these were the bonds alluded to; witness suggested that the man should be arrested in the broker's office, but the latter did not wish his name to be mentioned, as it might injure him; desired Young, then, to hire an office to negotiate the bonds; Young came back and said he had found a man and an office; the man was respectable and had held high civil offices; the broker in William-street was then requested to send the man to this office; he did so, and McQuade came, and after a good deal of haggling agreed to receive over $55,000 for the bonds, but refused to take a certified check—he wanted money; witness then got a lot of bogus money and furnished it to Young to put in the safe, so it could be shown when the negotiator would come; witness directed him to take others with him, in order to have an overpowering force; he then took Irving, and informed witness that he had promised that man $100, which was all he would give, be it $1 or $100,000; the next he saw were the prisoners and the bonds, which latter were handed over to him. "I would say," concluded the witness, "that Captain Young acted as he usually did; he never undertook anything important without acquainting me; I am sorry to say that is not generally the case; only one or two Captains do so, and one of them is Captain Jourdan."

Chief Clerk HAWLEY read the rule of the Police Board declaring that it shall be cause of removal for any officer not to report to the Board any money he may receive for rewards.

With this evidence before them the Commissioners decided that Captain YOUNG had violated one of the Police rules, and unanimously dismissed him from the force.

COMMON COUNCIL.

The Board of Aldermen.

The Board met at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, President COMAN, in the chair.

A resolution was laid over that the First Judicial Court be removed from Nos. 115 and 117 Nassau-street, to the rooms formerly occupied by the Superior Court, on the corner of Chambers and Centre streets.

Resolutions were adopted that the liberty poles now standing in West Broadway and Franklin-street, be forthwith removed by the Street Commissioners.

Resolutions were presented and laid over to pave a large number of streets with Belgian pavement.

A resolution was presented that the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals be authorized to appoint an agent without charge to the City, to be present at all inspections of public vehicles, and whose signature shall be necessary, in addition to that of the official Inspector, to all the usual tickets or permits given previous to granting licenses to any such public vehicle.

Mr. NORTON said the objects of the Society were good, but sometimes power might be abused; the proper way to do in this matter, he thought, was to punish the owner of the horse, and not the driver. He did not think the Society should have any more power than it has at present; the power now vested in the Mayor's Marshal, he thought, was quite sufficient, if properly carried out.

The resolution was lost.

A resolution was adopted that the Committee on Ferries be authorized and directed to inquire into the subject of the boats of the Harlem Navigation Company conveying passengers to and from Astoria, L. I., and also to points at the lower and upper ends of the City, thereby seemingly establishing and maintaining a ferry. The resolution states that no advantages accrue therefrom to the City Treasury by the payment of rent for the privilege, the right to establish the ferry never having been given by the Common Council, and no steps taken to dispose of the franchise at auction to the highest bidder.

A preamble and resolutions were adopted that the Common Council protest against the enactment of a bill, now before the State Legislature, known as "An act for the relief of the Tenth-street and Broadway Stage Line of New-York," the design and purpose of which is to override the ancient chartered rights of this City and of the Common Council, by extending the encroachment of legislative enactment to a sphere which has hitherto been indisturbed by such enactment, the tendency of the proposed measure being to lead to a complete usurpation of the already largely diminished prerogatives of this City, and the Common Council by establishing a precedent for special legislation upon matters partieularly and specially local in their character.

Then Board then adjourned.

The Board of Assistant Aldermen.

This Board met at 2 P. M. yesterday, Mr. GIBNEY in the chair.

A preamble and resolution were read, protesting against the passage by the Legislature of an act granting certain privileges to the Tenth-street, and Broadway Stage Line, said privileges being in contravention of the City charter.

The resolution was adopted and a copy thereof directed to be sent to the Legislature.

Resolutions making donations to St. Theresa's School and several other institutions were laid over.

A resolution directing the Street Commissioner to number the avenues where not already done, was read.

Mr. PINCKNEY wished to know whether all the avenues were to be renumbered, or whether the resolution referred only to that part of the avenues not already numbered.

No information being forthcoming, the resolution was referred to the Committee on Streets.

The following donations were made to pay assessments: To the Church of the Holy Name, $463 12; to the United Presbyterian Church in Seventh-avenue, $292; to St. Mary's Church in Grand-street, $200.

Resolutions were adopted to pave Beach-street, from West-street to West Broadway, with Belgian pavement; to pave Hudson-street, from Chambers to Canal-street, with Belgian pavement; to appoint the New-Yorker Journal a corporation paper; to donate $500 to Joseph Pine for loss of horse, and to procure portraits of Ex-Mayors GUNTHER and COMAN, at an expense of $1,000 each.

The Board then adjourned to Thursday next, at 2 P. M.

Committee on Contested Elections.

The Assembly Committee on Contested Elections continued their session yesterday, at the Metropolitan Hotel, Hon. WM. H. HEGEMAN in the Chair. Testimony was taken in the case of ALEXANDER MCLEOD vs. WM. HALPINE, and tended to show a large amount of repeating and fraudulent voting in the Sixteenth Ward. Numerous repeaters testified to their own fraudulent voting, after being assured that they would not be prosecuted for their action. The Committee will meet again, at the same place, on Saturday next, at 10 o'clock, when the incumbent will present rebutting evidence. They will report on the several contested cases, in their order, at an early day, beginning with HAWKINS vs. DECKER, Richmond County; MCKIEVER vs. WHALEN, Fourteenth District; ZIMMER vs. CAMPBELL, Sixth District, and MCLEOD vs. HALPINE, Thirteenth District. The cases of HAWKINS vs. DECKER and ZIMMER vs. CAMPBELL have been already summed up, and are simply awaiting a report. The testimony shows effectually the working of New-York City politics.

Coroner's Cases.

Mrs. REBECCA ROBINSON, who was so badly burned on Sunday morning at her residence, No. 212 West Eleventh-street, her clothes taking fire from the grate, died in the evening. She was a native of Petersburg, and about 40 years of age. Coroner FLYNN held an inquest in the case, and a verdict of accidental death was rendered.

Officer ROSE, of the Seventeenth Precinct, yesterday morning found the body of a newly-born infant in the hallway of No. 31 First-street, and conveyed it to the Fifth-street Station-house, where Coroner SCHIRMER held an inquest. No evidence could be obtained as to the parentage of the child, and the verdict usual in such cases was rendered.

MARY REILLY, a native of Ireland, 70 years of age, was found yesterday morning sick and destitute in the hallway of No. 33 Prince-street by Officer SAMUELS, of the Fourteenth Precinct. He placed her in a coach and started for Bellevue Hospital, but she died before reaching that place. Coroner ROLLINS held an inquest, and a verdict was rendered of death from old age and exposure.

PHILIP SCHEIN, a reputable German citizen, 52 years of age, was taken suddenly ill in the street Sunday afternoon, and being placed in a coach was conveyed to his residence, No. 442 East Sixteenth-street, where he died within a few hours. Coroner SCHIRMER held an inquest in the case, and a verdict of death from disease of the heart was rendered, in accordance with the result of a post-mortem examination made by Dr. JOSEPH CUSHMAN.

Coroner FLYNN yesterday held the inquest at Mount Sinai Hospital, in the case of AUGUST MAAS, killed on the Hudson River Railroad, as has been fully reported. The testimony showed the occurrence to have been purely accidental, and a verdict was rendered to that effect.

Yesterday afternoon GEORGE MESLIN, aged 40 years, one of the employes, was caught in the machinery of the Congress Sugar Refinery, corner of Franklin and Washington streets, and was terribly mangled, both legs being fractured. He was removed to the New-York Hospital, where he very shortly died, and Coroner SCHIRMER having been notified, will hold an inquest this morning.

Meeting in Favor of Cuban Independence.

The undersigned invite the citizens of New-York and vicinity to meet them at Steinway Hall, on THURSDAY EVENING, the 25th inst., to confer upon matters connected with the present condition of affairs in Cuba.

We are fully satisfied that the present struggle of the Cubans for independence is based upon principles of eternal justice; that the revolution which began five months ago has been growing in power ever since, and now includes the great body of the Cuban people, who are giving their money and blood freely for the attainment of their independence.

We would, in a public and formal way, express our sympathies for a people living on our very borders and almost a part of us, who are pledging their fortunes and lives to obtain rights long unjustly withheld from them.

Without a Good Digestion

All other temporal blessings are comparatively worthless. The dyspeptic millionaire, who has tried all the potions of the medical profession in vain, and believes his complaint to be incurable, would give half his fortune to be freed from the horrors of indigestion, and thus enabled to enjoy the other half. Of course he would.

Perhaps HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS has been recommended to such a sufferer. Possibly he has turned from the friend who made the suggestion with a sneer, intimating that he has no faith in any "patent medicine." If this has been the case, so much the worse for him. His incredulity dooms him to a life of misery. All the luxuries which wealth can purchase are at his command. Not one of them can give him pleasure. His own irrational obstinacy is his bane.

The masses, happily for themselves, are less skeptical. There is such a thing as bigoted unbelief, as well as bigoted credulity, and a golden mean between the two, which men and women who are gifted with common sense adopt and profit by. These are the class that patronize and recommend HOSTETTER'S BITTERS. Why do they approve this famous anti-dyspeptic and anti-bilious preparation? Simply because they have not been too much the slaves of senseless prejudice to give it a fair trial, and have found that when all other tonics, stimulants and stomachics failed, it produced the desired effect.

"Strike, but hear," said the Roman sage, when his ignorant enemies were assailing him. "Doubt, but try," says the man who has been cured of indigestion, or biliousness, or intermittent fever by the Bitters, as he relates his experience of the medicine to his invalid friends. Whoever is so wedded to his own foregone theoretical conclusions, as to decline to test the properties of a medicine indorsed by the testimony of intelligent men in every walk of life, and approved by the people at large, deserves to suffer.—Advertisement.

THE NEW-YORK TIMES.

A Political, Literary and Miscellaneous Newspaper.

The NEW-YORK TIMES,—started in September, 1851,—has for many years been recognized as among the most successful, popular and influential newspapers in the country. It is still under the control and management of its original founders, who, with greatly increased resources and experience, will spare no pains to extend and strengthen its claims upon the confidence and support of the public.

In its political discussions and preferences the TIMES is Republican,—and supports the cardinal principles and leading measures of that party as on the whole best calculated to secure the peace and promote the prosperity of all sections of our common country. It was among the first to advocate the nomination and election of Gen. GRANT to the Presidency, and will sustain, with all the ability it can command, the principles and policy of his Administration.

The TIMES will insist upon Reform in all branches of the public service,—economy in the administration of the Government,—the payment of the public debt and the maintenance of the public credit,—the adoption of equal and impartial suffrage,—the removal of useless political disabilities,—the preservation of peace,—the elevation of labor,—the vindication of our national rights,—and, in general, such measures as will strengthen our Republican institutions in the confidence of our own people, and commend them to the respect and admiration of the rest of the world.

As a NEWSPAPER, the TIMES will continue to be, as it has been, unsurpassed.

Its CORRESPONDENCE, by Telegraph and by Mail, from all parts of the world, will be full, prompt, reliable and interesting. In this respect it will maintain the high reputation it has thus far enjoyed.

Its REPORTS of proceedings in Congress and in the State Legislature,—of the Law Courts, social, political and literary associations, public meetings, and of whatever else may enlist or attract the public interest, will be prepared with care and with special attention to the convenience and instruction of the great body of the Reading Public. In its Commercial, Financial, Real Estate and general Market Reports, special pains will be taken to embody the latest news, in the most reliable and acceptable form.

A LITERARY Department will be maintained, in which will be given Reviews and notices of all the important and interesting issues of the Press;—and the Fine Arts, including Music, the Drama, painting and sculpture, will receive careful attention at the hands of competent and experienced critics.

The EDITORIAL Department of the TIMES will be devoted to the intelligent, temperate and useful discussion of the current events of the day, in every department of public activity and interest, with the general aim of instructing and guiding the public mind rather than exciting public passion or ministering to a morbid curiosity. Special care will be taken to exclude everything which can deprave the morals, or lower the taste of the great body of intelligent readers.

The Sunday Edition of the TIMES contains, in addition to all the news of the day, from eight to ten columns of interesting literary matter, selected with great care from the latest periodical literature of this country and Europe, including the best stories, poems, &c., besides original articles by accomplished writers on subjects of general interest. It is therefore not only a NEWSPAPER, in the proper sense of the word, but a journal of ART, LITERATURE and FASHION; and no pains are spared to make it the most complete and interesting Sunday newspapers in the country. The matter it contains is always fresh and new, and is arranged in a tasteful and attractive manner.

The TIMES issues three editions, all of the very largest size, on large quarto sheets, each containing fifty-six columns, printed in clear and legible type, at the following rates:

THE AMERICAN YEAR-BOOK FOR 1869.
This work presents a condensed, but very comprehensive exhibit of the United States, of each State and Territory separately, and of every foreign State throughout the civilized world, giving the principal facts relating to each. The information has been obtained from hundreds of sources, including all the Departments of Washington, numerous Public Institutions, the Governors and other officers of every State and Territory, and will be found invaluable to all classes, furnishing answers to more of the ten thousand questions that arise every day, pertaining to its scope, than any other fifty volumes that can be named. It contains 824 pages. Price in Cloth, $3 50. Leather, $4; Half Calf, $6.
EXPERIENCED AGENTS WANTED for this work. It sells rapidly, even to those who do not look at ordinary subscription books. Nearly every family will buy it, while among business men and professional men it will be found about as much a necessity as the daily newspaper.
O. D. CASE & CO., Publishers, Hartford, Conn., and No. 116 Nassau-st., New-York.

A NEW EASTER ANTHEM, BY J. R. THOMAS.—Just published, "Christ our Passover"—will be very acceptable to choirs and all admirers of Mr. Thomas' sacred music. For sale by all music dealers. DITSON & CO., Publishers, No. 711 Broadway, New-York.

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS.

The market opened this morning very spiritedly. The sales were unusually attractive, and embraced almost all kinds of property. The salesroom was well filled, and the bidding quite brisk. The prices obtained were generally satisfactory, and the day will, in all respects, compare favorably with any of some weeks past. Several pieces of quite valuable and desirable property were sold, and the prices realized were excellent. If the sales continue as well as they have commenced, this will be one of the best weeks of the season.

Messrs. BLEECKER, SON & CO. had quite an extensive sale. The four lots on the east side of Sixth-avenue, south of Fifty-fourth-street, 21.6x75, brought $11,500 each—an excellent sale. The Fifty-fourth, Fifty-eighth and Fifty-ninth streets lots sold at equally favorable prices. The Saugatuck property was pretty well sold, but did not bring as high prices as were expected, nor as high as it should. The Boulevard lots sold by Messrs. MULLER, WILKINS & Co. went off rapidly and at good prices. Other pieces of property sold by this firm brought equally good prices. The "Williamson Homestead Farm" lots at East New-York were nearly all disposed of at good rates. The remaining lots will be sold at an early day.

To-day Messrs. BLEECKER, SON & CO. will sell three lots on north side of Sixty-eighth-street, west of Eleventh-avenue; one northwest corner of Sixty-eighth-street and Eleventh-avenue; three-story brick house and lot on north side of Seventy-seventh-street, east of Third-avenue; two lots southwest corner of Third-avenue and Ninetieth-street; four-story double tenement house west side of Second-avenue, next to southwest corner of One Hundred and Thirteenth-street. Also, property on Eightieth, Eighty-sixth and One Hundred and Twenty-first streets, and six plots of ground in the town of Westchester, Westchester County.

Messrs. JOHNSON & MILLER will sell two hundred valuable Brooklyn lots, situated on Flatbush, Atlantic, Fourth, Grand and Atlantic avenues; State, Pacific, Dean, Atlantic and Degraw streets, and Close-place.

Messrs. E. H. LUDLOW & Co. will sell one lot, southeast corner Fifth-avenue and Sixty-third-street; also, four lots on south side of Sixty-third-street, east of Fifth-avenue.

Messrs. MULLER, WILKINS & Co. have a very extensive sale of valuable property on Ninth-avenue, One Hundred and Sixth-street, Ninety-first-street, Carmine-street, several Boulevard lots and other pieces of desirable City property.

Messrs. JAMES M. MILLER and WYCKOFF & LITTLE, also, have interesting sales.

To-morrow Messrs. MULLER, WILKINS & Co. have a sale of particularly desirable property, and of the class which seldom appears in the market. It consists of eight lots, comprising the entire front on the east side of Fifth-avenue, between Ninety-second and Ninety-third streets, and fronting on Central Park, each 25.2x102; four lots on Ninety-second-street, 102 feet east of Fifth-avenue, and two lots on Ninety-third-street, 102 feet east of Fifth-avenue, each 25.6x100.3. These lots are very pleasantly situated on high, healthy ground, about 90 feet above tidewater, in desirable location, commanding a most delightful view of the Central Park, in a very aristocratic neighborhood, and surrounded on all sides by first-class property. They are by far the most desirable lots which have yet been offered on the east side of the Central Park, and are very much superior to several pieces of west side property which have been sold at extravagantly high rates. They will undoubtedly sell well.

The same day, will be sold on the premises, the country seat known as "Elmwood," N. J., located on the Raritan River, thirty-eight miles from New-York and one mile from the depot of the Central Railroad of New-Jersey. The property contains 145 acres of the best quality of land, highly improved, sloping gently to the south, well watered, under-drained, and well adapted for stock and grazing. Other important sales will take place, particulars of which will be found in our advertising columns.

PEREMPTORY SALE
Of the balance of the
VAN MATER ESTATE,
Consisting of
FIVE HUNDRED DESIRABLE LOTS
AT MASPETH,
By JOHNSON & MILLER, Auctioneers,
On THURSDAY, March 25, 1869,
At 12 o'clock M., at the
EXCHANGE SALESROOM,
No. 111 Broadway, New-York.

CLERKS, MECHANICS,
and others of small means, wishing to purchase lots and build themselves homes, will find the VAN MATER PROPERTY the best suited to their wants of any that has been offered this Spring—and should not fail to make a thorough examination of every lot before the sale. Do not forget that is not a new place; there are over a hundred houses, stores, hotels, &c., on the lots of this estate, already sold.
SEVENTY PER CENT. CAN REMAIN THREE YEARS.

MASPETH

A new Methodist Church has just been finished on Perry-av., and a new Public School is being built on the corner of Perry and Clermont avs.

Maspeth is much nearer the business part of New-York than Newtown, East New-York, Flatbush, Bay Ridge or Yorkville, being only a little over to 34th-st., 23d-st., 10th-st., Houston-st., Grand-st., James-slip and Roosevelt-st.
THREE MILES FROM THE FERRIES
THE TRACK IS LAID FOR THE NEWTOWN AND MASPETH HORSE RAILROAD, from Grand and North 2d-st. ferries, through Maspeth-av., in front of the property, on which cars will, probably, be running early in the Summer.
THE DE KALB-AV. RAILROAD from Fulton ferry, has a charter for an extension to Newtown, also passing through Maspeth-av.

A new road is now being built to Newtown, crossing the property now offered, on which it is proposed to build a horse railroad.

MASPETH is located between the South Side and Flushing Railroads, being about half a mile from Winfield and Fresh Pond, and the Van Mater property is only a few hundred feet from Maspeth stations on the Flushing and South Side railroad.

Being just outside the City limits, the taxes are nominal, amounting to less than fifty cents each lot, per annum.

These lots will be sold for lower prices than are being paid for lots no better located at East New-York, a mile and a half further from the ferries, and they will be worth more than the East New-York lots as soon as the horse cars are started.

To reach the property take the North 2d or Grand-st. cars from either of the Williamsburg ferries to Bushwick, and there take the Maspeth and Newtown stage; or, take the Flushing Railroad, leaving James-slip at 7, 9:30, 11:30 A. M., 2, 5 and 6 P. M.; or 34th-st. at 6, 7:15, 9:45, 11:45 A. M.; 2:15, 5:15, 6:15, 7:40, 10:30 P. M., to Maspeth Station.

Returning, leave Maspeth at 5:53, 7:08, 9:13, 11:13 A. M.; 1:13, 3:43, 6:13, 7:31, 9:55 P. M.

THE SCHOOL QUESTION.

Necessity of Reform in our School System —The Bill Pending at Albany.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

A great deal of excitement is attempted to be stirred up by the movement made by Mr. RICHMOND, the only Republican member of the Legislature from the City of New-York, to effect a change in the character and composition of the Board of Education. It is sought to have it believed that this is a conspiracy of bad men to obtain control of our public schools, for corrupt, mercenary, and even sectarian purposes. If this were so, there would be full justification for the great activity of those having the control of the Board of Education and of the school moneys, in their efforts to prevent any interference with the existing condition of things; because, however bad the present system may be, no matter what abuses may have grown up during this long continued control of one set of men, forming the "ring" of the present Board, it would be better even that it should continue as it is than that the objects said to lie at the bottom of the movement should succeed.

——"rather bear the ills we have,
Than fly to others that we know not of."

Now, there can be no harm in calmly considering the existing condition and relation of the Board of Education and the objects attempted to be secured, and which will probably be accomplished by the bill of Hon. Mr. RICHMOND. Mere clamor proves nothing, and should not affect any citizen who feels—as all good citizens should—a deep and responsible interest in the cause of common-school education. Let not abuses which are patent, and which are growing, continue, from any vague apprehension or any interested statements that the opposition comes from unworthy sources.

One would suppose that the object of the movement in the Legislature is to uproot the common-school system, and utterly destroy the principles and practice of this scheme of public education. Mr. RICHMOND'S bill does not interfere at all, or propose to interfere, with the system of common-school education, in the slightest degree. It merely aims to introduce new men, and, doubtless, better men, into the Board of Education, for the purpose of controlling the enormous growth of the expenses of common-school education—new men as School Commissioners who can be relied upon to correct the abuses which have grown up under the secret management of the clique in whose hands are the operations of the Board of Education. One would suppose, from the uproar and excitement which it is attempted to raise, that we have in our Board of Education the most intelligent, capable and immaculate set of Commissioners to be found anywhere administering so important a trust. Now, I ask how many of your readers know who compose the Board of Education? and, not knowing who they are, how can they judge that they are the best men for the position? How many know of the proceedings and operations of the Board of Education? How can they judge in regard to the expenditures of money and the making of contracts, and the jobs that are passed there? A few years ago the proceedings of the Board of Education were published regularly, so that every act was made known. The result of this was found to be exceedingly inconvenient to the managers of the Board, and two years ago it was absolutely stopped, and since that time their proceedings have been kept entirely secret, except to the few spectators who may from time to time choose to attend.

Again, it is said that the movement against the Board of Education is an effort of the Tammany ring to obtain control of that Board. Do not all your readers know that eighteen out of the twenty-one Commissioners were elected by Tammany Hall, and that they stand in the position of control, compared with the other party, as eighteen to three? But all this is not important if the Commissioners are good and capable men, and are discharging their duties with efficiency and economy.

Now, what are the facts—the results in a general way? The expenses of the Board of Education for the last six years have been as follows:

1863	$1,450,000 00	1866	$2,454,327 54
1864	1,787,000 00	1867	2,939,348 00
1865	2,298,508 58	1868	2,900,000 00

This shows that the expenses have increased during the above period 100 per cent., and that the increase goes steadily on. The appropriation asked for during the present year is $3,150,000. Of this total the following are the items of necessity, though doubtless extravagant in amount:

Salaries of Teachers in Ward Schools	$1,700,000
Salaries of Janitors	85,000
For the support of the Evening Schools	110,000
Normal Schools	20,000
Corporate Schools	70,000
For supplies through the Depository	185,000
Total	$2,170,000

It will be seen that the actual expenses required for salaries, and for the support and supplies of the schools amount, even on the estimate prepared by the present officers, to about $2,000,000.

Now let us see how it is that the amount of what would seem to be all that is necessary for the support of the schools is increased $1,000,000 at this time when we are suffering in every department of taxable interests, from the burdens of National, State and City taxation. The first item that attracts attention is salaries of the Superintendents, Clerk, &c., of the Board of Education—$65,000. Does any one pretend that the expense of a clerk and assistants to perform the mere clerical duties of that position, need amount to any such sum as this? The Board meets twice a month, and the whole duties consist in paying salaries and keeping a record of the proceedings of the Commissioners.

The next item is incidental expenses of the Board of Education, including Shop account, $60,000. What are "incidental" expenses? It means expenditures for which the items cannot be anticipated, or of which it is not agreeable to furnish a statement; it means simply a general fund to be expended by the clerk and officers of the Board of Education as they think proper "incidentally." Among these "incidental" expenses is what is known as a tea-room; that is to say, the members have a supper, or refreshments, furnished to them at their meetings, and as they choose to order. This is never returned, or charged, under the head of tea-room supper, dinner or board bill, but is covered up under the head of postage-stamps, or other "incidental" expenses. How much of the $60,000 goes in this way, it is, of course, impossible for us to know. If the Common Council of the City of New-York should set about providing for their daily board, out of the public treasury, there would be a universal howl of indignation, but because such a gross abuse is perpetrated in the sacred name of Education, and from the sacred funds raised for educational purposes, all attempts at inquiry, or attacks upon the propriety of such expenditures, are considered an unholy effort to break down the common-school system.

The next prominent item is procuring sites for erecting buildings, and furnishing and fitting up buildings, the sum of $450,000, expended by the same clique, and under the operation of the same influences by which the expenses of the Clerk's office are made to reach $65,000 for salaries and $60,000 for incidental expenses. It is to be remarked, in regard to this charge for incidental expenses, that it is as much for such purposes as all the other City Departments receive, including the Finance Department, the Street Department, the Croton Aqueduct Department, the Law Department, and the Clerk of the Common Council.

Another item is for incidental expenses of ward schools, $215,000, about $10,000 for each ward to be expended under the same direction. Incidental expenses is the substitutive term for the contingencies of the City Departments, and, treating this branch of the subject incidentally, I must say that the waste fund under the direction of the managers of the Board of Education is a very handsome sum, and it is not remarkable that those who have managed it, coming from the humblest positions, without means, are now men of wealth and property influence.

Now, then, let us look at the branch of supplies. The supplies are included in the first statement we made of expenses, allowing $2,000,000 for necessary purposes. It is not well known, but ought to be, that most of the supplies of books for the Board of Education are furnished, not under any contract or arrangement between the publishers and the school officers, but by a middle man named BURNTON, who does not publish, but furnishes them on his own terms to the Board. Now, I would ask any citizen, if he were charged with the business of conducting a single school, and desired that no one should profit by the trust which he had assumed, whether he would make a bargain or arrangement with an intermediate agent to furnish the books and supplies, for the benefit of that agent, or whether he would contract directly with the publishers for the best prices at which they could afford to furnish them. The expenditures for books, maps, slates, &c., amount to $185,000 per annum, all or nearly all through this same Mr. BURNTON. It may be also proper to state, in passing, that one of the principal books used in the schools is a book copyrighted by one of the Superintendents, and, of course, embraced in every order.

Again, on the subject of pianos, an important item. These are not purchased of CHICKERING or STEINWAY, manufacturers, who can afford to furnish them of the best quality and at the lowest prices, but they are procured wherever the agent for that purpose chooses, with reference to the influences which control him in that respect. The average price paid for pianos is $400, and pianos are shifted about from school to school, under pretence of repairing, so that when a repaired piano can pass muster, it is not remarkable that it turns up as entirely new. Now, CHICKERING will furnish all these pianos on a regular contract, for $375, and STEINWAY for $385. The item of pianos is an important one, because they are furnished to all the schools, three in every grammer-school building. Now, who pockets the difference between the prices actually received for these inferior pianos, and the fixed price paid for them, and why is it that CHICKERING & Co. are not permitted to furnish, for $25 less, a piano that is worth $100 more? Can this question be asked without incurring the responsibility of attacking the common school system?

In regard to the item of furniture, it was only at the last meeting of the Board of Education that a committee of investigation was appointed to inquire into a fraud charged in that Department. It was found that the Superintendent had invited proposals and received bids for furniture for a Ninth Ward school, when it will be nine months before the school building will be ready to receive the furniture, and that an officer of the Board of Education, whose office is in the clerk's department, has a patent, or pretended patent, for an item of furniture included in the proposals, and in regard to which there can be no competition; indeed, competition has been entirely eliminated from this branch of expenditure, and but two houses now attempt to engage in the business for the Board of Education.

But all these matters are of mild flagrancy. The time of the clerk seems to be so taken up by these jobs that, from the testimony in regard to the celebrated $17,500 forged warrant, it appears, and is admitted, that he never examined his accounts or the warrants to discover the forgery, until three weeks after the account and the checks were placed in his possession.

Now, let us examine the composition of the Board of Education, to see whether it is constituted of responsible tax-payers and men of education fitted for the position, and who are entitled to that sacred protection which is claimed for them. Their names are as follows:

First District—James B. Dupignac, Timothy Brennan and Owen Haley. Mr. Dupignac keeps a billiard saloon, Mr. Brennan is a public inspector and Mr. Haley is a porter-house keeper. I do not intend, by reference to the occupation of these gentlemen, to reflect, in any way upon them, because they are, no doubt, very good and worthy men in their way, but the business of selling liquor at retail is an engrossing pursuit, and must necessarily prevent that close attention to the duties of public education which their importance demands.

Second District—Henry P. West, saddler; Wilson Small, Clerk in the Street Department; Otto H. Coop, German grocer.

Third District—William H. Gray, horse-dealer; Benjamin B. Merrill, tailor; James L. Lewis, retired merchant.

Fourth District—Francis Euring, music teacher; John Kaiser, Jr., tailor, and S. P. Patterson, insurance.

Fifth District—Jacob W. Duryea, markets; Richard Warren, auctioneer, and Wm. H. Neilson, broker.

Sixth District—Thomas J. Hall, dealer in music, some of which is sung in the public schools; Leander Buck, builder and repairer, and Peter H. Jackson, iron.

Seventh District—John Jasper, Corporation contractor; Thomas E. B. Hawks, fishing tackle, and Richard L. Larremore, lawyer.

Now, I do not intend to make any reflection upon these gentlemen, lest it might be said that it is an attempt on the part of the wealthy taxpayers and men of education to prevent humble men from assuming the duties and responsibilities of government. It may be that these gentlemen are very conscientious in regard to their various pursuits, but they are men who are required to attend daily to their daily business, and whether they know much or little about education, or have the commanding and comprehensive ability to take charge of and direct so large and so important a system as that of public education, they have not time, nor can they be expected to make the sacrifice required for a thorough performance of their duties. But on this subject our citizens can form their own judgment.

Now, who are the real managers of the Board of Education? THOMAS BOESE, formerly policeman, for the last ten years Clerk and Controlling Manager of the Board; JAMES L. MILLER, a former Commissioner, who resigned to take the position of Superintendent of Building, Repairs and shopwork generally, a position created expressly for him, and an inner circle of Commissioners who may be said to give their whole time, if they do not give their whole mind to it. The laws that have been framed in regard to the expenditures for the Board of Education really make the Board entirely independent of any supervision; there is no limit to the expenditures which may be made, and there is no auditing power. Now, it is all well enough to assume because our common-school system is a good one, and we have capable teachers, that we cannot expend too much money in so good a cause, but is this sound reasoning?

I have alluded to some of the items of expenditures. Can they be justified upon any ground? Are the School Commissioners of the character and qualifications to be relied upon to make the most intelligent and economical expenditure of this vast and growing sum, raised from our taxpayers for school purposes? These are important questions.

Now, then, what is proposed by Mr. RICHMOND, the Republican representative from the City of New-York? It is that our School Commissioners, composing the Board of Education, shall hereafter be elected by general ticket, and undergo the scrutiny of the whole people—that it shall not be composed of pot-house politicians, elected in districts, where no supervision can be exercised. Is there anything wrong in this?

Now as to the provision for filling by appointment the places of the present incumbents with a view to reform. This scheme of Mr. RICHMOND'S bill has been gotten up on consultation with leading men, representing associations and organizations affecting the public welfare, and the design is to select Commissioners of the following character: John T. Agnew, Robert B. Roosevelt, Henry Hilton, Richard L. Larremore, Peter Cooper, Isaac H. Bailey, Thomas Murphy, Augustus Schell, James L. Lewis, Isaac Sherman, Timothy Brennan and William H. Neilson.

This would be a Board composed of seven Democrats and five Republicans. Will any one pretend that that Board will not be an improvement on the existing Board, and that it cannot be relied upon for an honest administration of our school affairs? Will they promote the interests of the Tammany ring as much as the present creatures of the Tammany ring, who are now members of the Board of Education? The truth is, that the interested clique who spend the money of the Board of Education, are seeking to drown this movement of reform by clamor, and the old expedient of crying stop thief, by the thief himself.

I ask your readers and citizens generally to consider seriously the dangerous and devastating strides now being made by the ring of the Board of Education in their salaries, sinecure offices, incidental expenses, and the jobs of every kind that are concocted in their tea-room.

And on the subject of tea-room it may be remarked that while the expense may not be very large comparatively, yet it is an expenditure not allowed by law, and the fact that they thus take the public moneys for their private refreshment and benefit, is an evidence, small though it may be, of the general character of their proceedings and of the influences controlling in the Board. If a man will spend five dollars of trust moneys fraudulently and in violation of law, openly, in the public face, what may be expected of him in regard to transactions involving large amounts of money done in hidden secrecy with confederates and where there is no opportunity for public scrutiny or exposure?

In the consideration of public questions, facts and ideas are what the public want, and in an intelligent community such as ours our citizens are not to be misled from the fair and candid consideration of any question by any bugbear cries, or the lamentations of the victims who are fearing detection and exposure.

I shall recur to this again, more in detail, giving dates and figures.

AN EX-SCHOOL COMMISSIONER.

Charges Against the Coroners—An Assault by a Deputy Coroner.

Saturday last a card signed by EDWARD H. DIXON, No. 42 Fifth-avenue, appeared in a morning paper, reflecting in very severe terms upon the Coroners of this county and their deputies, calling them a "Body-snatching ring," and reciting a case in which he had been the attending physician in support of his charges, and also giving his version of a recent case in Thirty-fourth-street, saying that the deceased person died of consumption, dating its origin a long time since. He has been regularly attended, and a certificate of death duly signed by the physician in attendance. Nevertheless, an inquest was insisted on by a ring, at the request no doubt of one of them, who was to share the $40. The body was taken from the coffin and an autopsy made, in the face of humanity and Dr. HARRIS' permission for the interment.

Dr. WILLIAM SHINE, Deputy of Coroner FLYNN, feeling aggrieved by these reflections upon the office with which he is connected, called upon Dr. DIXON yesterday afternoon, at his office, to ask an explanation of the matter. Dr. DIXON declined to enter into the affair with Dr. SHINE, and referred him to the Press as a medium by which to right himself. A war of words ensued between the two gentlemen, and Dr. DIXON ordered Dr. SHINE out of his office. Both parties got upon the sidewalk, and finally Dr. SHINE struck Dr. DIXON several blows with a carriage whip and then departed. Dr. DIXON announced his intention to hold Dr. SHINE to a legal accountability, and the case will probably come up to-day at the Jefferson Market Police Court.

A New Political Order.

A meeting was held yesterday evening at the house of IRA B. DAVIS, Esq., No. 35 East Twenty-seventh-street, to organize a new political order. The motto of the party is to be: "Government the superintendent of education, property and trade, and employer of the people, male and female, upon the basis of equal rights, opportunities and compensation." This implies the establishment of public workshops and the assumption by the Government of the control of railroads, canals, &c. The means to which the new organization looks for the accomplishment of its ends are principally the submission of all laws to the people for approval, and the abolishing of primary meetings, substituting nominations of officers by popular ballots. All officers are to be elective. Female suffrage is one of the cardinal principles. All people are to receive equal compensation, President and paviors, mechanics, professional men, soldiers, officers and seamstresses—all alike. These are the main points. The men engaged in the enterprise do not lack enthusiasm, certainly, and hope to make themselves heard in time. A public meeting will soon be held.

Board of Health.

The Metropolitan Board of Health met yesterday afternoon, under the direction of President G. B. LINCOLN.

The counsel for the Metropolitan Gas Company requested, by letter, a further postponement of the argument relative to the complaint pending against that corporation, on the ground that he was imperatively engaged elsewhere. The Board thereupon deferred the hearing until the 5th prox.

A communication was received from the Street Cleaning Department, asking the Board to remove the sand heaps from the pavement of Thompson-street, so that the street might be cleaned. The matter was referred to the Sanitary Superintendent.

Sanitary Superintendent HARRIS, who was present at the meeting, stated in answer to a question proposed by one of the Commissioners, that no permit had been granted by his department to land the passengers of the ship James Foster, Jr., in this City.

The Sanitary Superintendent reported that the carcasses of diseased hogs, which arrived recently by the Hudson River Railroad, had all been "rendered," in agreement with orders from the Board. In addition to this report it was stated that during the past week the bodies of 151 diseased calves had been seized in the Metropolitan district. In this connection it was said that there are speculators who make a business of buying diseased animals, slaughtering them outside the City, and then bringing them here to sell to the poor at low rates.

Assistant Sanitary Superintendent STILES reported, verbally, that he was vigorously prosecuting the examination of the theatres and public halls of this City and Brooklyn, for the purpose of ascertaining whether they were properly heated and ventilated, and not overcrowded. Three of these buildings in New-York, and six in Brooklyn had thus far been examined.

Dr. HARRIS was directed to investigate certain reports that the Alta Velta Guano Company, of Astoria, was still carrying on its offensive business, in disobedience of orders from the Board.

The Board, by special ordinance, directed that the dumping of manure at Hunter's Point, be not carried on at any time within a half hour of the arrival or departure of passenger trains, and when carried on none of the offensive matter should be taken within 300 feet of the depot or cars.

A resolution was received from the State Assembly inquiring by what authority the Board or its agents landed fever patients from the ship Foster on Ward's Island. The Sanitary Committee and counsel were directed to prepare a suitable reply.

Counsel presented an ordinance for the prevention of the spread of hydrophobia, which authorizes any person to kill dogs or other animals which may be suspected of having hydrophobia; also, all sickly dogs found at large, or which may have been known to be near dogs or other animals which have been exposed to the hydrophobia, the responsibility of the killing being assumed by the Board.

The ordinance was adopted, after which the Board adjourned until Thursday next, at 2 o'clock P. M.

Meeting of "Colonel" Herman's Victims.

An adjourned meeting of the persons victimized by the claim agent, "Colonel" J. B. HERMAN, was held last night at No. 113 Bowery. About 200 persons were present, including several women. Mr. GREEN presided. He stated that he and the other members of the Executive Committee called on Mr. C. S. SPENCER on Thursday last. Mr. SPENCER thought their claim against Sub-Treasurer VAN DYKE was good, and offered to undertake their case free of all charge. [Applause.] He also advised them to call on Mr. VAN DYKE and make a formal demand for their money. This they did, and Mr. VAN DYKE politely declined to accede to their demand. The committee then decided to sue Mr. VAN DYKE, and a complaint was therefore served on him. The case will be heard in the Eighth District Court on Monday next.

The report of the committee having been accepted, the memorial to General GRANT was read. It states the grievances of the memorialist, and begs him to use his influence in enabling them to obtain what is justly due to them.

The memorial was approved, and was signed by all those who could show they had been swindled by HERMAN, after which the meeting adjourned to Monday next.

Installation of Rev. T. De Witt Talmage in Brooklyn.

The installation of Rev. T. DE WITT TALMAGE as pastor of the Central Presbyterian Church, in Schermerhorn-street, near Nevins, Brooklyn, took place last evening. Rev. Mr. POMEROY, in the absence of the Moderator of the Presbytery of Nassau, acting in that capacity, conducted the exercises.

The sermon was preached by Rev. Mr. POMEROY, of the Ross-street Presbyterian Church, Williamsburg, taking as his text: "Let us labor therefore to enter into that rest," &c.—Hebrews iv., 11 and 12. The subject was the importance of working in the Church, and the value of the most insignificant effort in promoting the cause of Christ, relying upon God to add the increase.

After the usual constitutional questions had been propounded to pastor and people by the Moderator,

Rev. P. D. OAKEY, of Jamaica, delivered the charge to the pastor.

Rev. Dr. VAN DYKE delivered the charge to the people.

Rev. Dr. WELLS, of Williamsburg, offered prayer, and after the congregation united in singing a hymn, the newly-installed pastor pronounced the benediction, and the interesting service was over.

Fire in Broadway.

At 7 o'clock last evening a fire broke out in the photographic gallery of JOHN O'NEILL, occupying the third floor of Nos. 949, 951 and 953 Broadway, and also a portion of the second floor of No. 949. The loss of Mr. O'NEILL was $5,000, but he was fully insured, having a policy for $2,500 in the Tradesmen's and $2,500 in another company. J. L. MORRILL, dentist, having rooms on the second floor of No. 949, was damaged to the extent of $500 and had no insurance. The remainder of this floor was used by LOUIS DUENKEL, architect, who was damaged $100, and was fully insured. HARRIS BROS., glovers, on the first floor of No. 949, were damaged $1,500, and have insurance for $70,000 in various City companies. BRADLEY BROS., florists, on the first floor of No. 951, lost $1,000 in damage to stock, and had insurance for $4,500. The building is owned by AMOS R. ENO, was damaged $2,000, and is fully insured. All the losses on the lower floors were caused by water.

Conflict of Complexion in the Brooklyn Newsboys' Home.

The Newsboys' Lodging-house in Poplar-street, Brooklyn, was established several years since for the accommodation of newsboys and others who had no homes; and among those who are provided for are several colored youths. Heretofore there has been no difficulty on account of color, but lately the white boys have shown a rebellious disposition. Yesterday morning the Superintendent, Mr. JAMES L. KIRKBY, received a letter from some of the elder lodgers, in which they demanded the expulsion of the colored boys, and threatened violence if their wishes were not complied with. The Superintendent applied to Police Inspector FOLK for protection, and Captain JACOBS, of the Forty-second Precinct, was instructed to see that order was maintained last evening. Several officers were sent to the Home, and their presence had the effect of keeping those who threatened disturbance quiet. The colored boys were permitted to remain, notwithstanding the threats made by the others.

The Board of Excise.

The Metropolitan Board of Excise met yesterday afternoon, President BOSWORTH in the chair. Ten complaints against liquor dealers for violation of the law were disposed of as follows: James Hope, Third-avenue and One Hundred and Twenty-fifth-street, Jan. 31, new summons ordered; Frederick Bishop, No. 320 East Thirty-third-street, Jan. 31, adjourned one week; Terrence Duffy, No. 117 Hudson-street, Feb. 28, not revoked; William Stahl, No. 197 Forsyth-street, March 12, not revoked; Francis J. Various Committees gave in reports, among which was the Committee on Sunday Schools, who reported contributions from Newark, $429; Jersey City, $310; Morristown, $126; Newton, $73, and Elizabeth, $215; total, $1,155. The Committee appointed to examine into the charges against Rev. N. VANSANT, reported in favor of that gentleman. An address on the Bible, and the benefits which have resulted from it, was delivered by Dr. TAYLOR, Secretary of the American Bible Society. About 750 conversions have taken place during the last year. The morning session of the Conference was concluded by memorial services on the late Brothers STYKEMAN, BARROWS and MATTISON.

A numerous company gathered last evening at the rooms of the Eastern Branch of the Young Men's Christian Association, No. 473 Grand-street, to listen to the report of the Committee on the Fair which was recently held by the Association for the purpose of raising funds with which to purchase a library. The Treasurer stated that the gross receipts of the Fair had amounted to $1,300 96, and the expenditures to $299 46. The Committee was heartily complimented on the vigor and earnestness of effort with which the project had been carried out. Three of the ladies of the Committee, foremost in the work, viz., Miss WESTCOTT, Mrs. PLACE and Mrs. LESTRAY, were presented with several volumes of elegantly-bound books, as a token of appreciation for services. The very pleasant exercises of the occasion were concluded with an enjoyable collation, which, it is needless to say, was thoroughly taken care of by the company.

At 12 M. yesterday a fire was discovered on board the Liverpool, a floating grain elevator, lying in the Atlantic Basin, Brooklyn. Owing to the inflammable nature of the upper works of the vessel, the fire rapidly gained headway. The police steamer Metropolitan, Captain HARTT and Sergeant DOYLE in command, soon arrived, and at once got three streams on the burning vessel, which, with the aid of the Brooklyn Fire Department, soon extinguished the flames. The loss, about $5,000, is fully covered by insurance.

A very lively ball, given by the Thirty-second Regiment, New-York State Militia, took place last night at Turn Halle, No. 63 Meserole-street, Brooklyn. Dancing was continued until nearly daylight with true German vigor, and many members of other military organizations lent lustre and life to the assemblage.

The hotel on the grounds of the New-Jersey Agricultural Society, at Waverley, was burned late on Saturday night, the cause being the explosion of a kerosene lamp in the hands of a Mr. BROKAW, who was himself burned severely. The burning oil instantly set the building in flames, and everything therein, with the exception of a piano and the contents of the bar, was destroyed.

The prisoner's friends, who are respectable citizens of Philadelphia, say he is insane, and assert that he has the peculiar weakness of engaging himself to several young ladies at the same time. At the time of the robbery he was one of a surprise party to which he was invited by a lady friend. He was brought before Judge QUAIFE, yesterday, and examined by a jury of physicians, who will render their decision to-day.
